DEFIANCE BY EDISON COUNSEL

Refuses to Heed Consumers' Request for Data to Aid Investigation

Gage of battle to the people of Boston was flung down today by the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, when F. Manley Ives, the company's' counsel, told the State Board of Gas and Electric Light Commissioners:

"The company feels that it is none of the business of Mr. Grenville S. MacFarland or of the Boston American what our customers pay for their service, and it is plainly our duty to observe the wishes of our customers.

"So far as they have indicated a desire for publicity in the matter, by signing this petition, we have complied with their desire and have furnished the information, but with respect to such customers as have not indicated that desire, we shall refuse to produce the information, so far as we may lawfully do so."

Maurice Palais, counsel for consumers who have submitted to the commission a protest against what they allege to be discrimination on the part of the company in connection with its differential rate system, had asked that the company be required to furnish the public with the name and address of every customer of the company together with a copy of the last bill rendered.

Ttorney Ives objected on the

MAYOR PRESENTED CASKET BY BOSTON, ENGLAND

Mayor Peters holding the greetings sent to Boston by British city of the same name. On the table is the casket in which they were contained, and standing beside the Mayor is the British consul, who presented them in behalf of the Mayor of Boston, England.

FISH PROFITEERS IN SCHEME TO FOOL PUBLIC

Forced to the mat by the Boston American fish stores, which offer many varieties of fish at cost for 5 and 6 cents a pound, profiteering retailers are trying new means to fool the public.

Dismayed by the overwhelming business being done in each of the Boston American stores, where tons and tons of fine frozen fish is being offered the public at cost, these dealers have begun a campaign to mislead the people.

They have even gone so far as to publish in local papers advertisements reflecting unfavorably on the statements of the experts of the United States Department of Agriculture and the United States Pure Food Department.

These reports have repeatedly stated and continue to state that Old Boston and New Boston today greeted each other in the Mayor's office when Alfred J. Ogston, Consul De S. M. Britannique, representing the Mayor, aldermen and burgesses of Boston, England, presented to Mayor Peters a casket of oak containing an engraved document.

The casket was made of a piece of oak which was formerly a part of the dock rail in Old Guild Hall where the Pilgrim fathers were tried in 1620.

The script inside the casket reads:

"We, the Mayor, aldermen and burgesses of the Borough of Boston in England, wish to offer to the Mayor and governing body of Boston, U. S. A., our congratulations on the magnificent victories of the gallant American armies in France, and the naval assistance given to the allied cause on the sea by the American anvy.

"We admire, and are grateful, for not only the bravery of American soldiers and sailors, but for the unanimous support which the people of America are giving to your great President, in his determination to remove forever the present threat to the freedom of nations and the civilization of the world. We are proud of the historic connection between our ancient borough and your great city, and we hope that after the conclusion of the war, and before American soldiers return to their country, some units of your soldiers may be able to visit our town and be welcomed by us.

"We trust that the friendship of the English-speaking nations will never be broken, and based not only on our common language, but on common ideals and a common love for individual freedom and the fullest rights of self-government, will long ensure the blessings of peace for the world,

THREATEN TIE-UP ON PRINTING

Men at City Plant to Declare General Strike if Non-Union Help Is Hired

The strike of six press-feeders and the lockout of four pressmen has precipitated a crisis in the affairs of the City Printing Plant. Already the printing of the assessors' and voters' list is suffering a serious delay, and important documents may be held up indefinitely.

If Superintendent of Printing Lawler, said Business Agent Cooney of the Press-Feeders' Union today, persists in the attempts to hire non-union printers, a general strike and tie-up of the entire plant is imminent.

REFUSE RAISE OF $2.

The striking press-feeders have been refused a raise of $2 a week, which would bring their scale up to the standard wage paid by other commercial plants in the city and $1 less than that paid by the State Printing Plant. The four pressmen were suspended shortly after the strike last Friday because of the consequent lack of work for them.

Particularly antagonizing the union officials is the attitude toward the strike which they declare has been assumed by Superintendent Lawler, who, they assert, boasted several years ago, when leaving the City Printing Plant as foreman to assume control of a local engraving concern, that he would return some day and "clean the place out."

The striking press-feeders had hardly quit their jobs, the union of-

WORCESTER BIGAMIST JAILED FOR SIX MONTHS

Worcester, March 17.—The too-much married George Landry was given six months in jail in Superior Court here today for bigamy. Wives No. 1 and No. 2 were present, and apparently friendly. Landry in 1912 married Blanche Gaucher of Lowell. He left her and several years ago came to Worcester, and was married six months ago to Marion Powers. He told the court he believed his first wife was dead.

Newington, N. H., March 17.—A mysterious fire in the double bottoms of a ship under construction at the L. H. Shattuck Company's yard here today is being investigated by the police. The vessel, No. 393, was nearly ready for launching when fire was discovered between her outer and inner bottoms, burning through fourteen inches of timber before it was extinguished. The loss is between $3,000 and $4,000.

2,000,000 Pounds of Fish Brought in; Prices Drop

Two million pounds of fish were received at the Fish Pier today. The receipts were particularly large from four steam trawlers, which, between them, brought in one million pounds of the two million caught. The four trawlers were the Surge, with 275,000; the Tide, with 260,000; the Foam, with 250,000, and the Spray, with 224,000.

Several schooners also brounght in heavy catches. The Arethusa had 185,000, the Ellen and Many 171,000.

Prices went off considerably at the Fish Pier, due to the large catches. The sales of fish from the vessels were made at the following prices: Haddock 2¼ to 3¾c, scrod 1½c, large cod 4 to 5c, small cod cost 3 to 4c, pollock 5 to 7c, large hake 6c, medium hake 4c, cusk 4c, soles 5c and halibut 30c.

The wholesale price to retailers was one cent advance over these figures. A great deal was bought by local firms for freezing.

PEACE MENACE IN WILSON PLAN, FRENCH THINK

By ROBERT J. PREW,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, March 17.—A feeling or nervousness has arisen in Paris today as a result of President Wilson's determination to force the signing of the covenant of the League of Nations at the same time the German envoys are ordered to place their signatures upon the preliminary peace treaty.

Foreign Minister Pichon's statement that he believes it would be impossible to sign the two documents concurrently represents the French view that the primary necessity is to make tentative peace with Germany and then complete the covenant of the League of Nations by the time the final treaty is ready.

Another factor making for delay is the approaching departure of Premier Lloyd George for London. The labor situation in Great Britain urgently calls for the presence of the Premier in London, and he is expected to leave before the end of the present week.

Delegates are deploring the fact that the biggest driving forces of the conference—President Wilson, Premier Lloyd George and Premier Clemenceau—are unable to get together more than a few days at a time when something happens to take one of the

KILLS SELF AFTER FIRST QUARREL WITH HIS WIFE

Worcester, March 17.—Following the first quarrel in their ten years of wedded life, Mrs. McDonald Smith left her home and went to the house of a neighbor for the night, and her husband went into the bathroom and committed suicide by gas. Mrs. Smith returned to her home at No. 9 Woodbine street shortly before noon today, and after getting help and breaking down the bathroom door found her husband on the floor with a gas tube in his mouth.

HUNDREDS MORE TO BE SLAIN

Many Women Among the Spartacans Executed by Machine Gun Fire

By H. J. GREENWALL,
Exclusive Cable by the International News Service and the London Daily Express.

Berlin, March 16, via London, March 17.—Fifteen hundred Spartacans, including many women, have been executed at Moabit prison in four days, and it will take another week to kill all of the Spartacan prisoners under sentence of death, it was stated today by Captain Delavoche, who is in charge of the executions.

The "Battle of Berlin" came to an end on Friday.

It is expected that the city will remain quiet until the end of the month, when there may be another outbreak of excitement over the prospect of an early peace.

The government round-up for prisoners and arms in Berlin is being carried out systematically. Posters announced that, at a certain hour, a house to house search would be made in the barricaded district and that all inhabitants found in any house where arms were concealed would pay the death penalty.

When the search is under way, if ten or less prisoners are taken in any one house, they are immediately stood up in the courtyard and shot on the spot. If more are found they are marched off to Moabit prison, where they are killed with machine guns.

Anticipating trouble when the peace terms come, the authorities have begun to close some of the dance halls, but many are operating clandestinely. Many cartridges and grenades that failed to explode in the recent fighting were found filled with sand. They had been made by Spartacan sympathizers at the Spanish arsenal.

Copenhagen, March 17.—Six hundred Spartacans were killed in the last burst of fighting with government troops in Berlin, said a dispatch from that city today, quoting the Lokal Anzeiger. German government headquarters are being removed from Weimar. Martial law has been proclaimed throughout Saxony.

J. F. McDERMOTT HEAD OF CHARITABLE IRISH

James F. McDermott was unanimously chosen president of the Charitable Irish Society at the 182d anniversary meeting and election of officers today at Young's Hotel. Sullivan, keeper of the silver key and chairman of the board of directors; other directors, Michael J. Carroll, Hugh A. Carney, Louis Watson and Charles J. O'Malley.

Bomb Discovered on Electric Car at Woonsocket

Woonsocket, R. I., March 17.—What is believed by the police to be a bomb was found in a Providence-Woonsocket car on its arrival at this terminus. Passengers who had gathered to watch the mysterious-looking bundle untied by the car crew scattered in panic when the contents were disclosed.

The object was discovered under a seat by the conductor at the end of the route. Chief of Police Fred E. Coe has had it placed in safe keeping pending investigation. The car in which it was found is usually crowded with passengers.

The bomb was in a box similar in shape and size to a cigar box, filled with mechanism. Police officials believe it to be "home made."

TAGUE HEARING POSTPONED TO FRIDAY

Several hundred sadly disappointed followers of the clans of Tague and Fitzgerald silently filed out of the Federal Building today in obvious chagrin at the postponement of the election contest hearing of Peter F. Tague against Congressman John F. Fitzgerald until Friday next. For it had been anticipated that the ex-mayor himself would take the stand and eclipse in spectacular effect the testimony of Martin M. Lomasney last week.

A press of other business of John P. Feeney, chief counsel for Mr. Fitzgerald, was responsible for the continuation of the hearing.

No time was lost by the notaries sitting at the hearing when Mr. Feeney presented his request for postponement. The hearing was adjourned promptly with the notice that it was to be resumed next Friday morning.

Order Upsets Local Plans, While Governor Appeals to Legislature for Funds

While Governor Coolidge was sending a message to the Legislature today asking for an appropriation to pay for the welcome to the Yankee Division, army officers in Washington were attempting to convince the War Department that the Army Supply Base, South Boston, was ideal for billeting purposes.

Though Governor Coolidge asked for no specific amount, it is known that he desires either $200,000 or $300,000 of State funds for the celebration. About Beacon Hill the impression prevails that the Ways and Means Committee will report favorably, a bill calling for the maximum amount.

Mayor Peters aso sent an order to the City Coucil today calling for an appropriation of $50,000 for the same purpose. The mayor's order, however, is contingent on the Commonwealth's action in appropriating at least five times this amount.

The rival Boot & Shoe Workers' Union, which had supplanted the Shoe Workers' Protective Union at the Perry plant, will be obliged to withdraw the operatives who have been working there. Following the settlement the 8,000 workers who were threatening a sympathy strike were ordered not to picket the Perry mills.

EFFICIENT YEOWOMEN SENT TO WASHINGTON

Portsmouth, N. H., March 17.—Two young women of Portsmouth will be among a group of 24 yeowomen transferred today from their offices in the First Naval District to Washington, D. C. Most of them have been detailed to work at the Charlestown Navy Yard and their promotion is the recognition and reward of their efficiency.

SPEEDY ABDICATION OF CHARLES IS DEMANDED

London, March 17.—A demand for the speedy and unconditional abdication of former Emperor Charles of Austria, because a strong political faction is plotting his return to the throne, is made by the newspaper Arbeiter Zeitung of Vienna, said a Amsterdam dispatch to the Daily press today.

POOR FOOD AND FAVORITISM AT CAMP DEVENS CHARGED

SNOBBISHNESS COMPLAINED OF BY PRIVATE SOLDIER

Poor food in the base hospital at Camp Devens; snobbishness; class distinction; neglect of duty by inexperienced officers; injustices in the matter of passes and penalties; compulsion to remain in the service, idle, while civilian duties beckon—all these charges and more are made in a letter received by the Boston American from a private at the hospital.

The charges made were investigated by a representative of the American and were substantiated, although the American representative found that those highest in command were ready and willing to remedy conditions, and placed the responsibility on officers lower in rank. The letter of protest follows:

"Editor American:

"In view of the fact that military channels afford no remedy for the redress of wrongs, I take this opportunity to express, through your columns, some of the more glaring faults of this detachment. The private as an individual or the privates as a body have little chance to secure redress (1) because the higher officials, in the army, are not approachable; (2) because the private or privates who make complaints will be unjustly dealt with.

MEN PURPOSELY INDOLENT.

"(1.) It is an admitted fact that all those who desire discharge from the army and who can show a legitimate claim, whether that claim be dependency or industrial, should be discharged. In this detachment the legitimacy of claims is not considered. There is no logical, sane principle underlying discharges here. Further, the number of patients here does not exceed the number in the medical detachment by more than a hundred.

"This state of affairs shows (1) that some are not working at all; (2) and that a large number of discharges could easily be made. The reasons why such a condition exists are twofold. (1) Because the men feel that they are being held on borrowed time and consequently are purposely indolent; (2) because about one-third of the detachment is made up of non-commissioned officers, who, by virtue of their status, feel too dignified to work at all. This latter evil has two remedies, (1) by reducing three-quarters of the non-commissioned officers; (2) by making the remainder fulfil some regular duty.

"It does not seem wise that those who desire to stay in the army should be discharged, but if such a number should be discharged as would leave the personnel of the hospital deficient that deficiency should be made up by civilian employment; indeed, it seems wise from an economic standpoint to resort to civilian employment entirely. Two hundred civilian employes would easily supplant the present enrollment of over 600.

FOOD POORLY PREPARED.

"(2) The second complaint is the matter of food. Our food has been very poor, due largely to the fact that it is poorly prepared. To read the bills of fare it would seem, that every meal is a banquet, while in reality it is unpalatable. It is the writer's belief that good, wholesome food is purchased, yet the food as prepared is unwholesome. The reason for this fault lies in the fact that we have no food inspections. In this regard our mess officer violates military law and in the absence of any law it can be said he is absolutely failing in his duty. In this detachment there are rigid inspections of wards, barracks, canteens, grounds, latrines and physical inspections; yet the most vital matter, i. e., food, receives no attention whatever. There has been but one food inspection during the last six months. Our mess officer is so fastidious himself that he requires specially prepared meals at the officers' ward; yet he is neglectful of the welfare of others in this regard.

"The writer realizes that dainties and luxuries cannot be given the soldiers. They are not necessary articles of diet, but what we have a right to expect and demand is palatable, wholesome food of sufficient quantity to satisfy hunger. There is no single thing that pertains more closely to the general health and well-being of men than good food. Our mess officer is either unaware of this fact or does not concern himself in the matter. For either or both he is culpable.

CLASS DISTINCTION RIFE.

"(3.) There are many points which the writer wishes to touch upon; (1) class distinction (in this detachment).

"(a) In our mess hall the privates are supposed to stand beside their plates until they are told to sit down to their meals; yet the non-commissioned officers sit down the minute they come into the mess hall. There is no just reason for this and there can be none.

"(b) The rule in the detachment is that a man is allowed a pass once every four weeks. This rule holds good as to privates, but fails as to non-commissioned officers.

"(c) Absence without leave is a serious crime in the army; yet if one can escape without detection he is not impressed with its seriousness. Non-commissioned officers do not report them. The process of "covering up" is nicely worked in their cases; yet a private who stays over his or goes out without a pass for a few hours is severely dealt with. This state of affairs spells injustice.

"(d) Most of the non-commissioned officers sleep in rooms where they can sleep until late hours in the morning undisturbed and undetected. The privates sleep in the barracks proper.

"This article is not written in a spiteful or resentful spirit, but is prompted by a strong desire to see justice. With this spirit the Boston American is, has always been, and I knew, will always be strongly in accord. This article is written in hope that some great good may be realised. To this purpose it is dedicated.

A PRIVATE."

MAYOR BLODGETT TO BE CANDIDATE FOR SENATE

Mayor Charles M. Blodgett of Malden in all probability will be a candidate for the Massachusetts Senate next Fall to succeed Senator James F. Cavanagh of Everett. If Mayor Blodgett enters the ring, Representative Lloyd Makepeace will be a candidate and there is a probability that Representative Alvin E. Bliss will also run. Others may enter the field before the primaries.

2,500 Children in U.S. Flag Feature at Providence

Providence, R. I., March 17.—An immense American flag formed formed by 2,500 children from the parochial schools of this city, the flagstaff being represented by little children from St. Xavier's Academy, was formed today on the lawn of the State house as a preliminary to the big March 17 parade.

The flag was formed under the direction of Mrs. Ellen Ryan Jolly, former national president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. When asked if the weather would interfere with the program Mrs. Jolly said:

"The people of Ireland have suffered for hundreds of years and it will not do us any harm to stand in the wet for a little while if we have to."

A holiday was granted in the public schools today by Judge Howard B. Gorham, president of the school committee. The parade, which followed the formation of the flag, was one of the most successful ever held in the city and was composed of delegations from all over the State.

SANTA CATALINA ISLAND SOLD TO WRIGLEY

Realty Deal Involves $6,000,000; to Be Show Place on Pacific Coast

Los Angeles, Cal., March 17.—The purchase of Santa Catalina Island by William Wrigley, Jr., manufacturer of "Wrigley's Spearmint," one of the chief stockholders in the Chicago Cubs ball team and heavily interested in several other enterprises, has consummated one of the biggest real estate deals in the history of California. The purchase price is said to be close to $4,000,000, and several millions more will be spent to make the island the great show place of the Pacific Coast.

David Blankenhorn of Los Angeles is president of the new company formed to develop the property, which consists of 48,000 acres, the new $400,000 Ste. Catherine Hotel, 10,000 head of sheep, steamships and other appurtenances. The general manager is Everett H. Seaver, who directed the Fulton shipyards at San Pedro during the war.

In commenting on the enterprise, Mr. Wrigley says:

"Just as we have looked to advertising to build up our business, so shall we make known the fame of Catalina Island. The power of the press is one of the world's greatest agents of advancement. Without advertising it might take twenty years to accomplish what advertising makes possible in one."

ROCKEFELLERS GAVE $350,323 TO 'DRYS'

John D., Jr., Denies Exploitation of Labor in Explaining Anti-Saloon Stand

New York, March 17.—All his life he has supported the cause of temperance as a matter of principle, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., said today in reply to charges that the motive back of his support of the Anti-Saloon League and temperance measures was the unwarranted exploitation of labor.

Instead of running into millions, he declared, his financial support and that of his father totalled only $350,323.67 in the last twenty years. This, he said, included special contributions made in 1918 to the National League and the New York State League in connection with the constitutional amendment campaign. The latter amounted to $85,000.

As to the charge about exploiting labor, he said: "What do I want with more money—or what does my father want with more? As a matter of fact nearly all my time and nearly all the time my father gives to financial affairs is devoted to studying how best and wisely to distribute the money accumulated by energetic management of business enterprises. The handling and disposal of this money is a matter of stewardships with us."

As to the temperance question Mr. Rockefeller said: "My support of the temperance cause is due to an inherited habit and to a fundamental principle based on the conviction that such support is right and proper. Neither my grandfather nor my father ever tasted alcoholic beverages, and I can say the same thing for myself. On my mother's side of the family temperance proclivities were equally strong.

"As a child I was a member of a temperance society called the Loyal Legion and attended meetings in private houses. That is why I call my habit inherited.

"But as a matter of principle I am glad to lend a hand to bring about the abolition of the curse of intemperance in this country."

AIRPLANES TO SPREAD BOLSHEVIK PROPAGANDA

Washington, March 17.—Bolshevik propaganda, written in invisible ink, in both French and English, will be dropped in Paris and London from airplanes, if the present plans of the Russian Bolshevik government are carried out, say Swedish press reports, reaching the State Department this afternoon. The Soviet government of Russia has already commenced training aviators in Moscow for distribution of the propaganda, the reports say.

UNITED SHOE CO. WORKERS FORM UNION IS RUMOR

Report That They Are Quietly Organizing and Will Parade in Beverly Wednesday

That the Beverly plant of the United Shoe Machinery Company is being quietly unionized in spite of the company officials, and that this means industrial trouble, possibly either a strike or a lockout, is the burden of rumors which are generally believed in Beverly and Salem.

Officials of the company say they have no knowledge of an attempt of the employes to organize.

However, the latest report is that 2,000 of the men at the plant have been signed up in a union which was formed at secret meetings at Central Labor Union headquarters in Salem. It is also understood that these thousands will parade on Wednesday afternoon in an effort to create sentiment for organization among the other operatives.

This parade will be led by the United Shoe Machinery band, it is stated, and if the company band refuses to parade, the members will be deprived of their union cards by the Musicians' Union.

All these rumors are impossible of confirmation. The report that unionization will be followed by the discharge of the workers when it is discovered by the mill agents, and the closing down of the Beverly factory, are said by company officials to be "without official authority."

EVERETT HERO'S FATHER RECEIVES D. S. CROSS

As a recognition of the bravery of his son, Lieutenant Joseph F. Wehner of the 27th Aero Squadron, Frank W. Wehner of No. 73 Lynn street, Everett, today received the Distinguished Service Cross with the bronze oak leaf by mail from the War Department. Near Rovers, France, on September 15, 1918, Lieutenant Wehner, unaided, rescued an American observation plane from attack by eight German machines. He destroyed one of the enemy planes and forced another to the ground.

The oak leaf, symbol of conspicuous bravery, was won in action near Roville, September 18, when, amid terrific anti-aircraft and machine gun fire, Lieutenant Wehner destroyed two enemy balloons, one in midair. He met his death while rescuing Lieutenant Luke from an attack by eight German planes. In Everett he was captain of the High School football team, and was prominent in athletics in Exeter Academy.

SOUTHERN TROOPS TO LEAVE FRANCE SOON

Washington, March 17.—General Pershing has assigned the 82nd Division to early convoy. It was announced at the War Department today. The 82nd is composed of National Army troops from Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee. The following ambulance sections also have been assigned to early convoy: Numbers 570, 600, 501, 521, 530, 569, 599, 602 and 604.

LYDIA GELINAS, of Nashua, N. H., telephone operator at General Pershing's headquarters, who is to wed captain.

Nashua, N. H., March 17.—Culmination of a war romance which began a year ago on shipboard, came today when the engagement of Miss Lydia Gelinas of this city to Captain John Warren of Boston was announced. The announcement was made by the young woman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gelinas. Captain Warren is of the Regular Army.

Miss Gelinas formerly occupied a responsible position in the Second National Bank here. She resigned to go overseas as a telephone operator. Sailing March 19, 1918, she met Captain Warren on shipboard. The friendship ripened, and in vacation periods the two traveled in Italy.

She received her discharge a few weeks ago, but accepted a position at General Pershing's headquarters at Chaumont in order to remain overseas until Captain Warren could return. He is now with the First Division, Army of Occupation, in Germany.

They plan to be married before leaving France for home.

TWO PLATOONS FOR FIREMEN OPPOSED

The Finance Commission today declared itself against the proposed two-platoon system for the Boston fire department.

The report that that the bill now before the Senate has no legislative merit and urges its rejection.

The commission states that if the bill becomes effective the next step will be a demand to put the firemen on an eight-hour basis, thus providing for three shifts instead of two.

The additional cost to the city, it claims, would be $300,000 for the first year, and that in five years it would increase to $750,000.

VETOED BY BATES.

A section of the report reads:

"A similar bill was vetoed by Governor Bates in 1903, and nearly every year since that time such legislation has been urged.

"The firemen of the city of Boston have never requested the local authorities to adopt the two-platoon system.

"If this bill is enacted and accepted by the voters of any city or town and upon trial is found unworkable or too expensive, there is no remedy.

"The adoption of this system is a local and internal question of municipal government and should be decided by each municipality for itself.

"The city of Boston has paid $2,267,310.58 in pensions to members of the fire department from 1884, the date of the first pension act, to January 31, 1919. Individual pension payments in some cases have amounted to over $20,000.

"The appropriation requested this year for pensions in the fire department is $210,000, an increase of $45,000 over the amount requested last year.

REFUTE FIREMEN'S CLAIM.

"The above facts are stated to refute the claims of the petitioners that the firemen are entitled to this legislation as a humanitarian measure.

"This bill provides that the tours of duty shall alternate every three days. This means for Boston that each year its firemen will be on day duty 175 days, on night duty 175 days, and will be off duty sixteen day on vacation. The only night duty performed by the firemen on the night tours of duty, unless actually engaged in fire fighting, is a two-hour watch on the floor for each fireman."

ZARROSS FINED $50 FOR CONDUCTING LOTTERY

Convicted of conducting a lottery in Cooper street and using American flags to entice customers into it, Louis Zarfoss was fined $50 on the first charge by Judge Wentworth in Municipal Court today, and sentence on the second count was suspended.

SEES BOSTON AS A CITY OF WOMEN

Shackleton Finds Them Self-Supporting, but Devoid of Feminine Frills

By HAZEL CANNING.

Do you know that Boston is a woman's city?

Do you believe that still, in Boston, there are old ladies, aristocrats of the Dr. Holmes, autocrat of the breakfast table, black horse hair furniture, go to meetings on the Sabbath era, who, even now, in Boston, go to bed by candle light, and dine—their real dinner, at the old-fashioned hour of 1 o'clock?

Do you agree that Boston is a closed shop on Sundays, except for hotels, a closed city where the stranger in our midst goes hungry, if he insists on getting his meals at a restaurant?

Will you agree that "remember the Sabbath Day to keep it hungry," is a good motto for our town?

Maybe you will agree, and maybe you will not. At any rate, pause for a moment, with an open mind, to listen to the description which Robert Shackleton, American novelist, traveller, and authority on manners contemporaneous and cosmopolitan, gives in his work of fairly recent vintage, "Book of Boston."

SAYS WOMEN DRESS AS MEN.

"Now," says Shackleton in the very beginning, "your Boston is a town of self-supporting single women, well groomed, perhaps, well tailored, of course, but dressed as men dress nevertheless, with an eye more to the material of their clothes than to the fashion."

Agree, Miss and Madame Boston?

But listen to the reason why. "In other cities," says Shackleton, "women dress for the afternoon parade up Fifth Avenue, or down the Champs Elysees. But in Boston"—well, the gentleman goes on to explain that they are all strong-minded, single ladies in our town, working in offices and stores etcetra by day, handling two heavy suitcases unassisted when they travel; dining at night with other women, attending the theatre sans man, and scurrying for the subway, after the theatre never thinking of an after-theatre-super as they say.

"Boston, moreover," as he characterizes, "is the city where people of limited means and excellent tastes may live economically and at the same time with self-respect. This, again, is due to the hordes ofo single self-supporting women peopling the city. And so, the general atmosphere of Boston is one of a pleasant economy which need not at all be associated with poverty."

Which leads to the institution, occurring in no other city, "of little restaurants and tea rooms," managed by women, where "hygienic health food" is sold. These little women's places are called "laboratories, food shops, kitchens, names that would not attract one in any locality save Boston." For in our city, Shackleton hastens to add, the "sons of pie and daughters of doughnuts have ceased to live and have their being."

BOSTON RETIRES EARLY.

Moreover the clever Shackleton has his opinion of the way we spend our evenings. Here again the fact that Boston is a woman's city is strictly responsible.

"For," the versatile Shackleton points out, "those who do go to the theatre, scurry into the subway directly after the performance. And those who do not go to the theatre," are supposed to be in bed, by 10 o'clock, for it gets late very early in Boston."

Then the explorer and discoverer of our city goes on to tell us a little more about our theatres.

"Boston people," says Shackleton, "may not be bothered by the location of their best theatres, which are for the most part situated on back, dreary, unkempt streets. They may find them as a man may find objects in his own back yard, from familiarity with the geography. But to locate Boston theatres, is unattractive exploration for a stranger."

DEAR FOLKS:

THE workman I met the oftenest at the Wilson & Co. plant, Chicago, was the day watchman. He is the Sentinel on Guard—and he is an active, intelligent, happy and proud Sentinel. Do you know why? I'll tell you.

Up to three years ago, this watchman looked upon himself as a mere machine. He felt that he occupied a menial position because he was treated as a menial. Nobody apparently thought him worth while. Every day was the same to him. Nothing happened between sunrise and sunset to relieve the monotony of his life. He was discouraged as most workers are who do not get kind words or attention.

But a new hold on life came to him three years ago this month and it was all brought about through a little act of kindness. My, how a small courtesy changes things for all of us! It dispels clouds and floods our pathway with sunlight. Let me tell you what the watchman told me.

"The day that Mr. Wilson came here to take charge of the business which had been given his name, what do you suppose was the first thing he did? Why, he came to my shanty, shook hands with me and said, 'John, I want you to know that I think you are holding a very important position. I look to you to watch things very carefully. So much depends on you. If you will put your heart in your work and help me all you can I will be very grateful. From now on you are going to be a right arm to this business. I need your help to make it a success. I hope we will be good friends. What do you say?' And, of course, I said, 'I'll help and I thank you so much for thinking that I can help you.' From that time on, I have been very happy. I am very proud of the position I hold. Mr. Wilson always speaks to me and shows that he likes me. I am just the average human being and when a man respects me and treats me right, it makes an awful lot of difference in my view-point of life. I feel that I am now a real man doing work that is necessary and helpful."

John and I got along fine together during my daily visits to Wilson & Company plant covering a period of five weeks. We had many a chummy chat. He introduced me to many of the workers, all of whom respect him. He dresses in a blue uniform and stands guard with as much pride as the Commander of a U. S. Warship stands on the bridge of his ship. This is the sort of spirit that makes a business prosper.

Another worker—this one a young woman—told me that the courtesy shown the watchman by Mr. Wilson was witnessed by hundreds of workers who were standing at the windows of the big office building watching for his coming. She said: "I can't describe to you the wave of satisfaction that immediately struck us all. Instantly the word went all through the plant that Mr. Wilson's first act was to visit the watchman, and the cry went up in all departments 'A real man has come to lead us: now we can put heart in our work; now we are sure of appreciation; now we know we will get a square deal.' You have no idea what a change was brought about at once. We went to our work with lighter hearts than we had ever had. We went to our work with the feeling that we must do it well from then on and we have been doing it well ever since. Mr. Wilson visited all of us later on and let us know in his kindly way that he wanted us to help him and that he would appreciate it very much if we gave him our loyalty and enthusiasm. It was new to us to be talked to in this friendly way. You can imagine how happy it made us all feel."

Don't tell me that little things do not make up the sum of life, for they do. Don't you recall the old saying, "Little things, aye little things make up the sum of life; a word, a look, a single tone may lead to calm or strife."

The words, the looks, the tones in Wilson & Co. plant lead to calm and happiness. In my next letter which will appear in this newspaper, one week from today, I'll tell you other things that prove how heart in work leads to contentment and success.

Sincerely, William C. Freeman,
151 E. 23rd Street, New York City.

"I DETEST MY WIFE WITH ALL MY HEART AND SOUL," SAYS MELLEN

WANTS TO BE LET ALONE

Ex-Railroad Man Scorns Idea of Reconciliation With Mrs. Mellen

New York, March 17.—"I'd rather jump out of this seventeenth-story window than see my wife cross the threshold of my room," said Charles S. Mellen, former president of the New Haven railroad, in his apartment in the Hotel Belmont.

"I do not hate my wife, because hatred means a desire to harm, but I detest her with all my heart and soul. Reconciliation? Never! Never in this life, nor afterward.

"If she cou'd just die and let me alone, I would ask nothing more.

"To spare my children the withering disgrace of further publicity I have agreed, through my counsel with her counsel, to make a settlement out of court.

"At the trial in Pittsfield, Mass., enough evidence was produced from her letters to grant me fifty divorces. If she wants money—and that is the only thing that will make her leave me alone—I will give her money. But to speak to her, be with her or ever see her again is forever impossible.

"The trouble is that I am sixty-eight years old and she is forty-seven. That twenty-one years' difference is at the bottom of it all. It tells its own story, sordid and heartbreaking."

U. S. to Dispose of Fund of $13,213 After Century

The Federal government will have the final disposition of a balance of $13,213 remaining in a fund of $70,400 paid by the Chilian government to the United States, in 1821, to recompense owners of a cargo of merchandise shipped from Canton, China, to Boston, and seized by Chilian revolutionists. The distribution was left to William H. Gardiner, who, at his death in 1882, had settled with all claimants except Faqua and Moqua, Chinese merchants and Thomas Furber of Boston, neither of whom could be found. Charles P. Gardner succeeded his father in the administration of the trust, and he, too, has since deceased. Robert H. Gardiner and Robert H. Gardiner, Jr., who took up the unfinished work of Charles P. Gardiner, now ask to be discharged from further service. Of the amount, $11,000 is accumulated interest.

BEREFT WIDOW IS HELPED BY MANY GIFTS

Baby Rizzo to Travel Abroad; Assistance for Other Orphans

By HAZEL CONING.

It was a happy St. Patricks Day for little Patricia Rizzo of No. 4 Bay street place, South Boston, and all the other little orphaned Rizzos.

It was also as happy a day as it could be for Mrs. Patsy Rizzo, mother of the orphaned brood, for the sadness which followed the death of her husband has been alleviated by kind friends.

Little Patricia, a young lady of ten days of life, will travel abroad as a belle. This happens because a lady who read the story of the ophaned family's predicament in the American went to the South Boston home today with the most wonderful set of baby's clothes one could imagine.

Little garments of the softest flanel, bonnets of silk, dresses of fine batiste and the cunningest of fleecy baby socks.

Then two other Boston men, James Coughlin and William Appleton, started their St. Patrick's Day right by each sending to the bereaved family $10 for their use in bying comforts and food.

GRATEFUL TO GOOD PEOPLE.

Mrs. Rizzo's husband, Patrick, a tailor's assistant, died last Thursday. Besides a family of seven children he left a lot of bills.

When an American reporter took to the South Boston home today the $20 sent it by Messrs. Coughlin and Appleton, Mrs. Rizoz had already begun to become more resigned over her loss.

Her condition was far more comfortable than it was last Thursday, when the American first made her acquaintance.

"People are very good," said Mrs. Rizzo. "I never imagined—I never knew—so many people would be sorry for me. After all, are there not other people in the world who also have no coal nor bread nor clothes, fr the baby, nor——"

CHEERS MOTHER IN GRIEF.

"Gee, ma, don't cry. I think we're getting along fine. Look at all the money you got, ma, dollars and dollars. Probably $20 or something like that. Gee, ma, $20 is a lot of money. You can buy oceans with $20 mother. So I wouldn't cry if I were you. It only makes people feel sorry—to cry."

"Oh, Louis"—— said the mother, patting her big boy's head.

"And see the bread they sent us in, over on the table." Louis was very interested to call his visitor's attention to the well-stocked condition of the family larder.

"And this morning I had for breakfast bread—WITH butter, and cake, and coffee, and I guess that's good enough for anybody."

Mrs. Rizzo, in the weakened voice of the woman upon whom recent motherhood and recent bereavement have laid their hand, spoke of the [illegible] that has been sent her and the bills that are still to be paid.

"People are so good," said she, "that I have almost half enough to pay the bills I owe. Never did I expect I would have enough, the day the father was taken when I was still sick with little Patricia there. But almost $100 has been sent me; the $20 you brought me from the American makes nearly a hundred.

"I owe for Patsy's funeral $135, and I owe $36 to the grocer, $45 to the bread man, and $20 to my sister, and $18 on the rent, so you can see I am about half out of the debts left me when Patsy died.

"And for clothes—all the good people have done so much for us, that we are pretty well clothed except [illegible] my Louis. He is the big boy, and most of the clothes were for the younger children. I need boots—number six—and I would like so much a little something of mourning.

"It means so much to an Italian woman, such as me. For he was a good man, my man, working for us hard; bringing all his pay—$20 a week—home to me every Saturday night; thinking always of clothes for the children; never caring whether he had clothes for himself or not. He was a good man."

PLAN FOR 26TH RECEPTION IS UPSET

it was stated that the War Department would not permit the use of the big new pier for the billeting purposes which had been [illegible] before the last few days. Despite this fact Colonel A. S. Williams, chief of staff to Major-General Edwards, presented his plans in Washington today.

WOULD SAVE $85,000.

Colonel Williams hopes to convince his superiors in Washington of the wisdom of adopting his plan. He hopes to convince them that by making use of the new terminal a saving of $85,000 would result. It would do away with the necessity of making three rail trips between Boston and Camp Devens by the division.

Governor Coolidge in his message to the Legislature took the South Boston plan into consideration. It is understood that the States was to have expended $100,000 in preparing the South Boston plant for billeting. Some of this money was to have been used in connection with the sanitary work necessary for troops debarking from France.

The State contemplates erecting a parade grand stand at a cost of $150,000 which would accommodate the families and friends of the returning heroes. The remaining $50,000 would be expended for incidentals.

WILL GO TO DEVENS.

As matters stand today the plans [illegible] call for debarking the troops here in Boston. [illegible] placed aboard trains and taken to Camp Devens for the necessary sanitary treatment. Then would follow the trip to Boston for the parade and finally a return to Devens for demobilization.

Following conferences with Governor Coolidge and Mayor Peters it was decided that the sanitary arrangements could be perfected at the South Boston Army Base. Then the War Department upset the plans with the announcement that the base is needed for reconstruction work.

It was stated today that Colonel A. W. Yates, depot quartermaster, is opposed to the plan whereby the South Boston Terminal would be used. He contended that the uses for which it was constructed are particularly urgent at the present time.

General Edwards will not comment on the plan but it is known that he has favored it all the while. Those who are ardent supporters of the idea are considering an appeal to Senator Lodge to use his influence to have the idea carried out.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Governor Coolidge's message to the Legislature says:

"As already announced, the War Department, in co-operation with the Commonwealth and the city, is planning a parade for the 26th Division some time in April.

"This will be the greatest military parade and the greatest celebration that has taken place in Boston in connection with the present war. It is expected to continue through several days. It is estimated bringing this division here for this purpose will involve an expenditure by the War Department of more than a million dollars.

"In consideration of the importance of the occasion and the pride which our whole nation has in the achievement of the 26th Division, and because this celebration is to be in part representative of our desire to do honor to the almost two hundred thousand soldiers, sailors and marines who have borne for us the burden of the war, I earnestly urge that a generous appropriation be made to carry out the plans of the joint committee of the General Court and of the citizens, in anticipation of action on the general budget. In order that arrangements may be made with the least expense, it is necessary that the appropriation be available at once."

The Mayor's order follows:

"Ordered, That the sum of $50,000 be appropriated and charged to the reserve fund when made, to be expended under the direction and at the discretion of the Mayor, for the reception of the 26th Division; provided that this arpropriation shall not become effective unless and until the Commonwealth of Massachusetts has appropriated for the reception of the 26th Division not less than the sum of $250,000."

ARREST IN WEST END LUNCHROOM HOLDUP

Harry Gabrouski, of Newmarket, N. H., was arrested there by two Boston officers on a charge of holding up Austin Cole, manager of the Waldorf lunchroom, at No 12 Bowdoin square, and the larceny of $50 from the cash register a few days ago. At first he denied all knowledge of the affair, but later the police say he confessed he had been in Boston for three days without food and that he was prompted to commit the act by hunger. The money, he claims, was concealed in the North Station. A search failed to yield the funds.

Gabrouski pleaded guilty in Municipal Court today, and was held for the grand jury in $2,000 bail.

WOMEN FORM NEW 26TH DIVISION AUXILIARY

To take care of the 101st Ammunition Train while awaiting discharge after return to this country, a Ladies' Auxiliary was formed in the South Armory on Irvington street. Mrs. William H. Keville, wife of the commanding officer, was elected president; Mrs. Porter, vice-president, and Mrs. Cushing, wife of Major Cushing, secretary. Plans were completed for a benefit concert at Steinert Hall on March 24. It was also voted to hold a Tag Day on March 29. A general meeting will be held at the armory next Friday night at 8 o'clock. This is the only unit of the 26th Division which has heretofore had no auxiliary.

VALUES LILLIAN LORRAINE'S LOST LOVE AT $100,000

Two new photographs of Lillian Lorraine, 'singer and stage beauty, whose husband, Frederick Gresham, is suing J. L. Pani of Westchester, N. Y., for $100,000 in alienation action.

New York, March 17.—The affections of Miss Lillian Lorraine have been alienated, according to attorneys for her husband, Frederick Gresham. In addition to placing a valuation of $100,000 on her affections, in a summons and complaint said to have been served on J. L. Pani of Woodmansten Inn, Westchester, Mr. Graham's attorneys said they were instituting another proceeding. This, they say, will be directed against Miss Lorraine, prominent in many Broadway stage productions. Service is said to have been made on Pani late Saturday night in Westchester County

Max Halperin, who, with A. S. Rosenthal, is representing Mr. Gresnam in the two procedures, announced that "Mr. Pani got the papers." Mr. Pani later denied that he had been served with the allenations summons and complaint or with a copy of divorce papers in which he is said to be corespondent.

He also denied that Mrs. J. L. Pani instituted action for divorce in the Nassau County Supreme Court last July. Attorney Halperin said:

"In the alienation suit which is to be brought it is claimed that Mr. Pani and Mrs. Gresham (Miss Lorraine) began the cause of our action in 1917. In the divorce summons and complaint, of which he received a copy, one specific night and one specific scene is dwelt upon.

"That scene was enacted at an uptown hotel in the early hours of February 11, 1919. Detectives operating for Mrs. Pani trailed Miss Lorraine for three days and reported that she frequented Woodmansten Inn often and for extended periods of time.

"Following the performance of a musical show, in which she was a principal, on the night of February 10, we allege that she took a party to her hotel apartment. The party, in addition to Mr. Pani and Miss Lorraine, consisted of the wife of a prominent and wealthy man, another girl friend and another man. The names of these parties no doubt will figure prominently in court action that may follow. The man is a millionaire and prominent socially.

"The five arrived at the hotel at 3:05 o'clock in the morning. The detectives remained on watch until 9:40 o'clock a. m., when Mrs. Pani arrived with witnesses. An entrance is alleged to have been forced to the Lorraine partment on the eighth floor.

"The scene disclosed, and to be described later, was thoroughly educational, as it were, and Mrs. Pani then had filed a supplementary complaint to her suit and our present summonses and complaints are based on this particular scene."

EDISON COUNSEL BALKS AT LIST OF NAMES

ground that tremendous expense to the company would be involved, because approximately 20,000 accounts would have to be produced. He declared, furthermore, that the amount of each customer's bill was a purely personal matter, and objected to disclosing the name and address of every customer.

"In respect to those customers who have indicted no dissatisfaction, it is our duty not to disclose to the public their private affairs with the company," he added.

Mr. Ives offered to produce the information with the customers numbered serially, but General Morris Schaff, member of the commission, insisted upon the names, stating that it might be desirable to interview customers personally.

Solomon Lewenberg, another member of the commission, objected to the company being required to furnish the name and address of every customer, on the ground that he had known men—men he believed were accepting remuneration from the public from private interests as well—to go before the commission seeking information.

"I consider it as much the duty of this commission to protect the company against the hold-up man as to protect the public against the company," he stated.

INSISTS ON FACTS.

General Schaff reitered his desire for the information. The suggestion was made that a part of the city of Boston might be laid out for the purpose of a test, and that the company might be required to furnish names and addresses and bills of customers in this area.

Chairman Alonzo R. Weed announced that the case would be tried before the board and not in the newspapers.

Attorney Palais took under advisement the suggestion that information be furnished from a limited area. The hearing will be resumed on April 14.

TESTIMONY FOR BETTY INCH IS CUT SHORT

Mysterious Woman Witness Says Millionaire Herrmann Talked with Her

By International News Service.

New York, March 17.—The mysterious "May Hayes" Benjamin was called to testify today at the trial of Mrs. Betty Inch, accused of extorting money from Eugene P. Herrmann, millionaire motor truck manufacturer, but the witness was only permitted to answer two questions.

All the remaining questions through which counsel for Mrs. Inch attempted to bring out an alleged intimacy between the witness and Herrmann were ruled out by Justice Vernon, who is presiding at the trial.

"I take exception to every one of the court's rulings," announced counsel for Mrs. Inch, as he excused the witness and closed the case for the defence.

The two replies which the witness was permitted to give were to the effect that she had known Mr. Herrmann since April, 1918, and that she had talked to him three weeks ago by long distance telephone, the charges for which she claimed Mr. Herrmann paid.

Mr. Herrmann followed her on the witness stand.

"Have you ever seen this woman before?" he was asked.

"Never," the witness replied. Concerning the telephone call he added that a woman "telephoned me and said she was May Hayes, but I did not pay the charges."

CHARGE DENTIST WITH ATTACK ON GIRL PATIENT

A warrant for the arrest of Dr. Edward H. Rowe, a dentist of No. 1382 Hancock street, Quincy, charging him with deserting his family, was served on him today in the Quincy District Court while he was being arraigned for assault and battery on Miss Reta Harrington of No. 424 Columbus Avenue, Boston.

His arrest by Captain Goodhue of the Quincy police on complaint of Miss Reta Harrington, who alleges that the doctor struck her in the mouth with his fist while she was a patient in his office on Hancock street, is a subject of much comment today.

Miss Harrington, who is said to be young and attractive, was unable to appear to testify against the doctor because of her injuries.

Dr. Rowe pleaded not guilty to the charge of assault on Miss Harrington and was held in $500 bail for a hearing on March 19.

Captain Goodhue stated that the doctor had a wife and family and that a charge of desertion would be added to the charge of assault when the case reappeared on Wednesday's docket.

Hindenburg Grieved at Treatment of Kaiser

By H. J. GREENWALL,

Exclusive Cable by Universal Service and the London Daily Express.

Berlin, March 17.—General Erich Ludendorff, back from Scandinavia, where he wrote a book on his part in the war, told me Field Marshal von Hindenburg had been "peeved" because of his (Ludendorff's) rough treatment of the ex-Kaiser. He said he had refused to allow the monarch to command a battalion during the crisis.

Ludendorff's book is largely devoted to military technical matters. It is not sensational, though it throws occasional sidelights on the relations between the Kaiser and the generals.

CHARGE GIRL WITH THEFT OF $100

Providence Also Wants Young Woman Charged With Stealing From Boston Store

Rosalind Magee, under arrest for the larceny of $100 from a Boston department store, is, according to the Providence police, Irene Magee, who, August 10, departed from Providence with $500 which she had taken from a department store there, where she had been employed as a cashier.

The girl will be taken to Providence tomorrow as a fugitive from justice to face the charge of the theft of $500 there. She told Judge Creed in court today when she was arraigned that she would not fight extradition.

The girl was held in $2,000 as a fugitive from justice and in $1,000 on the larceny count.

Miss Magee is eighteen years old, lived with her mother at 319 Cottage street, Pawtucket, and had been employed for some time as a cashier at a Providence store before she departed, leaving, it is alleged, $500 shortage in funds behind her.

Sunday Inspectors McCarthy and Haggerty of the Boston police arrested Miss Magee after it is alleged she had taken $100 from a local department store, where she had worked for only an hour. With an excuse she left her desk for a minute, and failed to come back. When confronted at headquarters, the police say, she admitted that her real name was Maguire and that she came to Boston from New York. It has since been learned, the police claim, that she is also wanted in New York for the larceny of $150 from a large department store there, which she took, this time, after working half an hour.

Dorothy Eldredge and Gladys O'Toole are other aliases of the young woman. When she presented herself for work Saturday, she came with a recommendation on Copley-Plaza note paper, signed D. Eldredge. She had a room at the Copley-Plaza, the police learned. She was photographed for the rogues' gallery today.

Miss Magee when searched by the police had but five dollars. She was dressed in up-to-the-minute style, wearing a fur coat. A veil and small turban hat covered the rest of her features. She is tall and slight of build.

LODGE-LOWELL DEBATE TICKETS IN MAIL TONIGHT

Tickets for the Lodge-Lowell debate on the League of Nations will all be in the mails before midnight tonight. Following the drawing by lot today, the coveted admission slips were turned over to stenographers and posted at once to the lucky holders. The drawing took place at the headquarters of the League of Nations Association on Mt. Vernon street. For every fortunate person whose application draws an admission slip, there will be more than a dozen disappointed. It is estimated that 32,000 will be turned away.

WOMAN DIES OF 'SLEEPING SICKNESS'

Mrs. Russo First Boston Victim After Week's Illness; Autopsy Is Ordered

Boston has its first death from "sleeping sickness." Mrs. Michele Russo, twenty-seven, of No. 8 Harris street, North End, who has been asleep for a week, is dead today at her home. The death report, filed at the health commissioner's office by Dr. Gerardo Balboni of Prince street, North End, states as the cause of death "lethargo encephalitis." This is the scientific name for the disease.

Dr. William C. Woodward, health commissioner, has ordered an immediate autopsy.

Following the woman's death and the filing of Dr. Balboni's report, a difference of opinion between the attending physician and members of the city's health department has become revived. Some days ago Dr. David Braugh of the health department differed with the diagnosis of Dr. Balboni.

The North End physician early diagnosed Mrs. Russo's case as one of "sleeping sickness." Dr. Braugh scouted the diagnosis. The attitude of the health authorities has been persistently dubious of reports from other cities that this disease was gaining headway and was likely to crop out in Boston.

It will be recalled that Dr. Woodward was extremely backward in recognizing the presence here of influenza and in taking steps to crush out the epidemic.

THREATEN TO TIE UP CITY PRINTING SHOP

ficials testify, when Superintendent Lawler went personally to Boston Common and solicited the services of discharged soldiers and sailors. He went so far, they allege, as to open negotiations with one soldier and one sailor who did not have the slightest knowledge of the printing business.

WORK AT STANDSTILL.

The striking press-feeders first made their request of a raise of two dollars a week as far back as last December.

Work in the cylinder press department of the plant is at a standstill. If the superintendent introduces non-union labor into the plant, as Business Agent Cooney declares he is trying his utmost to do, no time will be lost by the union in declaring a general strike in all departments of the plant which they represent.

LAWLER DENIES CHARGES.

"The striking press-feeders haven't got a leg to stand on in their action," was the vigorous assertion of Superintendent of Printing Lawler. "In the first place they were not underpaid according to the union scale, which calls for $22 a week, which is exactly what they are paid. I have the authority to recommend and this I have already done in my budget which I turned in last February. In it I asked that the press-feeders be granted a raise of $1 more than the union scale.

"The charges they make regarding my attitude are absolutely contemptible," Mr. Lawler continued. "Sufficient is it that I deny them all. I did advertise for men to replace the strikers and in doing so was well within my rights. Union men responded to the advertisement, but were persuaded to stay away.

"President Adler of the Typographical Union and the union foreman of the pressroom here agree with my attitude."

METHODIST MINUTE MEN TO BOOM LOAN

"The 5,000 Methodist minute men of the Boston area have been offered to the chairmen of the New England Victory Loan campaign, and have been accepted by him for use in selling the fifth loan," announced Chaplain Ernest Lyman Mills, field representative for the Minute Men in New England, today.

URGE BONUS FOR HEROES

Congressmen, Senators, judges of courts and mayors have added words of praise and indorsement to the action of 210,000 signers in New England of the Boston American's petition for six months' pay for soldiers, sailors and marines.

This petition is growing in favor every day and the wonderful tributes that have been paid to the Hearst newspapers for originating the idea give proof that the people are solidly in support of this patriotic plan of recognition of the services of Uncle Sam's fighting men.

Not only $60, but six months' pay, too, is the slogan of its supporters, and this movement is gaining strength by the report of the generous treat- voted $240 to $60 for the soldiers. Are voted $240 to $0 for the soldiers. Are the soldiers' services worth only one-fourth of what the civilians' merit? This is a question that is being asked since the American brought to light the fact that employes of the government at Washington have been given six times the amount in bonuses awarded to soldiers, sailors and marines.

PRIVILEGE TO SIGN.

Scores of those who are responsive to the will of the people in legislative and other matters have felt it to be a duty as well as a privilege to endorse the petition in order to reveal their feelings and intentions toward after-the-war treatment of soldiers and sailors.

Representative John J. Carey of Dorchester is one of this class. Writing his unsolicited views to the American, he says:

> I want to go on record in behalf of six months' pay for soldiers, sailors and marines. I feel when I sign this petition and write this letter that I am voicing the opinion of the people whom I have the honor to represent in the Massachusetts Legislature.
> I feel as a public servant that it is my duty to assist in any possible way to show my appreciation for what those brave men have done, those boys who suffered so much in the terrible war through which we have just passed.

Testimonials for the petition plan come from widely-scattered places and from officials who are looked up to as spokesmen for the towns and cities in which they reside.

BEST OF ALL PLANS.

Peter F. Hogan, chairman of the Board of Selectmen of East Jaffrey, N. H., declares the plan is the best that has yet been advanced for the benefit of soldiers and sailors. He says:

> "I believe no better plan has been put forth or no more practical one for showing the boys in the service that we think and appreciate what they have done.
> "Jobs are at a premium just now and we should do what we can to make it easy for the boys until conditions are better. The six months' pay, while it is no more than their due, will go a long way toward seeing the boys through until they get work. I know the majority of the people feel this way about it."

Charles M. Day of Winchendon, a delegate to the constitutional convention, is heartily in favor of the plan. He says:

> "Nothing is too good for the boys who stood ready to give their all for America. It has been proved right here at home that getting a job is not as easy as it should be even for the men just out of uniform. The country should at least provide for them until they can get work, and I think that this is the best way to do it. I heartily favor the plan."

Representative Carey declares further that the aliens who are holding down good jobs and held them during the war should be discharged now that the soldiers have returned, and uniformed men given the places in preferences.

SHOULD REPLACE ALIENS.

"You have done so much thus far in the interests of the boys who went over the top," he declares. "Why not put in a few lines asking the officials of the Fore River Shipbuilding plant and the Squantum plant to discharge the aliens who are working at these plants and give the work to those who served their country so honorably.

"When uniformed men appear at these plants to ask for work they are told that there is none."

Sick Four Years, Red Cross Worker Tells How She Got Well

Interesting Case of a Boston Woman

The case of Mrs. G. I. Baird, Allston, Mass., may bring new hope and health to other sufferers who have stomach worms and do not know what is the matter. A letter from this sufferer tells the story:

"I have been sick almost two years, had four doctors with little or no relief. Some of the doctors said I had enlarged liver, nervous indigestion, too much acid in my system. I was so tired in the morning it seemed as though I could not get dressed and get to work. I was growing thin every day, went from 138 to 111.

"My stomach was sour all the time and some days I could not retain what I ate, while other days couldn't keep anything on my stomach. I coughed so just the minute I went to bed some nights I would not sleep more than one or two hours.

"I was so discouraged I didn't know what to do. One night, about three weeks ago, I picked up a paper and saw your Dr. True's Elixir, Family Laxative and Worm Expeller advertised. I made up my mind I had worms and the next day bought a small bottle of Dr. True's Elixir and took three teaspoonfuls until I had taken the bottle.

"The day before I took Dr. True's Elixir I thought I should go wild with the crawling sensation in my stomach, evidently worms. The second dose stopped the crawling and the second night I didn't cough. I was surprised at the results.

"I feel like a new person, all my friends say I look so much better, but I don't need to have them tell me, for I know my feelings. I wouldn't have believed any one could feel so much better in such a short time. I tell everyone I know. I can't give your medicine praise enough."

The medicine mentioned in the above letter is made by Dr. J. F. True & Co., Auburn, Maine, and is called Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. On sale everywhere medicine is sold. Recommended by many druggists who have used it in their own families.

Get Back Your Grip On Health

Physician Gives Practical Advice On What to Do to Help Build Up Your Strength, Power and Endurance—Explains

How Organic Iron—Nuxated Iron—Helps Put Renewed Vim and Energy Into the Veins of the Weak, Nervous and Run-down—

Thousands of men and women are impairing their constitutions laying themselves open to illness and literally losing their grip on health simply because their blood is thinning out and possibly starving through lack of iron.

To possess the power, energy and endurance that win the blood should be rich in strength-giving iron. For this purpose physicians below explain why they prescribe organic iron—Nuxated Iron—which by enriching the blood and creating thousands of new red blood cells often quickly transform the flabby flesh, toneless tissues and pallid cheeks of weak, anaemic men and women into a glow of health. It increases the strength of delicate, nervous, rundown folks in two weeks' time in many instances.

You can tell which people have a firm Grip on Health—Strong Vigorous Folks with Plenty of Iron in their Blood

In explaining why he regards iron as absolutely essential to the greatest development of physical and mental power, and discussing the probability of building up a stronger race of people by increasing the supply of iron in their blood, Dr. George H. Baker, formerly Physician and Surgeon, Monmouth Memorial Hospital of New Jersey, says:

"Iron is absolutely necessary to change food into living tissue, muscle and brain. Refined foods and modern methods of cooking have robbed us of much of the iron which Nature intended we should receive and for supplying this deficiency and increasing the red blood corpuscles. I know of nothing more effective than organic iron—Nuxated Iron. From a careful examination of the formula and my own test of Nuxated Iron, I feel convinced that it is a preparation which any physician can take himself or prescribe for his patients with the utmost confidence of obtaining highly beneficial and satisfactory results. The fact that Nuxated Iron is today being used by over three million people annually as a tonic, strength and blood-builder, is in itself an evidence of tremendous public confidence and I am convinced, that if others would take Nuxated Iron when they feel weak and run-down it would help make a nation of stronger, healthier men and women."

Commenting on the use of Nuxated Iron as a tonic, strength and blood-builder, Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, said:

"Thousands are held back in life for want of sufficient iron in the blood. A weak body means a weakened will power, and like the race horse beaten by a nose, many a capable man or woman fails just short of winning because they don't back up their mentality with the physical strength and energy which come from having plenty of iron in the blood. That irritable twitch, that fit of despondency, that dizzy, fearful feeling—these are the sort of signals nature gives to tired, listless folks when the blood is clamouring for strength-giving iron—mere iron to restore the health by enriching the blood and creating thousands of new red blood cells.

"In my opinion the greatest curse to the health and strength of American people of today is the alarming deficiency of iron in their blood; it is through iron in the red coloring matter of the blood that life-sustaining oxygen enters the body. Without iron there is no strength, vitality and endurance to combat obstacles or withstand severe strains. Lack of sufficient iron in the blood has ruined many a man's nerves and utterly robbed him of that virile force and stamina which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life.

"Therefore I strongly advise those who feel the need of a strength and blood builder to get a physician's prescription for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—or if you don't want to go to this trouble then purchase only Nuxated Iron in its original packages and see that this particular name (Nuxated Iron) appears on the package."

If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Numbers of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while have most astonishingly increased their strength and endurance simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this after they had, in some cases, been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit.

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron recommended above is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists.

RAT KILLING IN ILLINOIS TO BECOME VERY POPULAR

Springfield, Ill., March 17.—Rot killing in Illinois promises to become as popular as bridge and poker parties if the House of Representatives passes a bill now before it providing for the extermination of millions of the rodents in the State by the bounty system. The bounty is 2 cents a head. Arguments for the extermination of the pests are that they are disease carriers and wer elargely responsible for the recent hoof and mouth disease epidemic throughout the country.

IRELAND'S WILL FOR FREEDOM SHOWN BY THE LATE ELECTIONS

'PEOPLE HAVE SPOKEN,' SAYS DR. PATRICK McCARTAN

The great Sinn Fein victory in Ireland at the recent general election has been interpreted by Dr. Patrick McCartan, Irish scholar, and who is known as the representative in the United States of the Provisional Government of Ireland, as the voice of the Irish people making itself unmistakably heard.

"The people of Ireland have, before the watching eyes of the whole world, finally achieved the independence of Ireland," Dr. McCartan said. "In the elections which took place on December 14 last," he added, "Ireland exercised her right of self-determination. The question which the Irish people were then called to decide was, 'Shall or shall not Britain continue to govern Ireland?'"

Dr. McCartan himself was returned as the representative of Kings County. He gives reasons why Ireland should have her place among the nations of the earth, saying:

"Ireland was occupied by an English army; the Irish Republican leaders were incarcerated in English jails. Our meetings were proclaimed and our press effectively silenced. The first director whom we appointed to conduct the Republican election campaign was arrested and his headquarters raided. The same fate overtook in turn each one who succeeded him. In brief, every device which imperial ingenuity could conceive was used to prevent the free expression of the electoral will. But the people of Ireland by more than a two-thirds majority, by the ballot, finally severed the connection between Ireland and England."

PROMINENT REPRESENTATIVES.

Some of the more prominent among those victorious in the recent election and who will be heard from in the future, including Unionists who oppose self-determination or even Home Rule for Ireland; Nationalists, who advocate Home Rule; and Sinn Feiners, who demand absolute divorce from England, are briefly sketched here:

Mme. Markievicz is a sister of Sir Josslyn Gore-Booth of Lissadell, Count Sligo, and is married to a Polish count. She has been prominently identified with the Sinn Fein movement for a number of years and took part most actively in the Dublin rising, commanding the rebellion in the Royal College of Surgeons. She was sentenced to a long term of penal servitude, but was released under the general amnesty.

Thomas Kelly, Sinn Fein member for St. Stephen's Green, Dublin, has been a member of the Dublin Corporation for many years and has been identified with the temperance movement in Dublin for the greater part of his life. Although he has been connected with the Sinn Fein from the beginning, he took no active part in the rebellion.

John MacNeill, B. A., is professor of history in the University College of the National University, Dublin. He won the National University parliamentary seat as well as another seat in Londonderry. He was organizer of the Irish Volunteers. At the time of the Easter Week rising he did not sign the proclamation for mobilizing the Volunteers but issued an order against mobilization. He was sentenced to penal servitude for life but was afterwards released.

SON OF JOHN REDMOND.

Captain William Archer Redmond, D. S. O., of the Irish Guards, is the only son of the late Mr. John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalist party. He was called to the Irish bar in 1910. He served in the war with distinction. In March, 1918, he resigned his seat for East Tyrone, which he had held since 1910 and standing for his father's constituency in Waterford, defeated his Sinn Fein opponent.

Edmund de Valera, returned unopposed for the East Clare district, and winning comfortably in East Mayo, is the recognized leader of the Sinn Fein movement. He was born in America and is of Spanish descent on his father's side. His mother was a native of County Limerick. He was a professor of mathematics in County Dublin and took an active interest in the Irish Volunteers. During the rebellion he commanded the insurgents at Boland's bread mills in Dublin.

De Valera recently escaped from Lincoln Prison in England and as late as last week was said to be in hiding near Dublin.

Terence MacSweeney, Sinn Fein member for Middle Cork, has repeatedly been deported.

P. O'Keefe, Sinn Fein member for North Cork, is at present in an English prison.

SINN FEIN FOOD CONTROLLER.

Diarmid Lynch, returned unopposed to the Southeast Cork division, is known as the Sinn Fein food controller. He is at present in New York and was to have addressed a meeting in Boston a week ago but was prevented by illness. Lynch organised a raid on a drove of pigs about being exported to England, had them slaughtered, paid the owners their value and had the dressed carcasses exhibited for sale by retailers.

Jean Hayes, Sinn Fein member for West Cork, is an active propagandist in the Irish Republican movement.

Joseph O'Doherty, Sinn Fein winner in North Donegal, where he unseated his namesake, P. O'Doherty (Nationalist) by 3,928 votes, has been imprisoned as a suspect.

Joseph Sweeney, Sinn Fein winner in West Donegal, was sentenced to ten years for participation in the Republican movement. This sentence was reduced to two years and he was afterwards released.

E. J. Kelly, Nationalist member for East Donegal, retained his seat which he has held since 1910. He is a barrister.

Frank Lawless, Sinn Feiner, who carried North Dublin, is a farmer and a member of a widely connected North County family. He was deported after the Republican rising and is now on parole, which has been extended indefinitely on account of the state of his health.

MEMBER OF IRISH BAR.

George Gavan Duffy, who carried South Dublin for the Sinn Feiners against strong opposition, is a son of the late Charles Gavan Duffy, and was formerly a practicing solicitor in London. He prepared the defence in the case of Sir Roger Casement. He is now a member of the Irish bar.

Desmond Fitzgerald, who carried Dublin (Pembroke Division) for the Sinn Fein, is a native of County Kerry and a man of independent means. He was tried by court-martial after the rising and was sent to prison in England, but was released under the general amnesty. At present he is interned in England.

Pierce Beasley, Sinn Feiner, elected for East Kerry, was born in England, became a journalist in Dublin and contributed to Sinn Fein newspapers. He is the author of at least one work well known to Gaelic scholars. For his association with the Easter week rising he was sentenced to penal servitude for life.

Count Plunkett, Sinn Feiner, re-elected for Roscommon North, should not be confused with Sir Horace Plunkett, who is visiting here and will sail for home Wednesday. Count Plunkett is a native of Dublin and a count of the Holy Roman empire. During the Parnellite split he was an active follower of the deposed chief. One of his sons was executed after the Dublin rebellion, and Count Plunkett and his wife resided in England for some time.

EDITOR AND PUBLISHER.

Arthur Griffith, elected for North-West Tyrone, is one of the leaders of the Sinn Fein movement in Dublin and is the principal advocate of the policy of abstention from Parliament. Early in life he worked as a compositor, but for several years has been the editor and publisher of Sinn Fein newspapers. He took an active part in the rising, and up to recently was interned in England.

Laurence Ginnell who carried West Meath for the Sinn Fein by 8,673 plurality has been a member from North West Meath since 1906, first as a Nationalist, then as an Independent Nationalist and more recently as a member of the Sinn Fein party. He is a barrister called at the Middle Temple in 1893 and at the Irish Bar in 1906. He was one of the founders of the Irish Literary Society in London.

T. P. O'Connor, Nationalist, was again returned for the Scotland division of Liverpool unopposed. O'Connor was elected for the Scotland division as far back as 1885, and for over thirty years he has been president of the United Irish League of Great Britain.

Thompson Donald, Unionist, elected for the Belfast Victoria District, was a member of the Unionist Labor deputation which visited London in opposition to home rule.

J. J. Walsh, Sinn Feiner, elected for Cork City, was a member of the telegraphic staff in the Cork Postoffice. He was prominently connected with the Irish rebellion of Easter week, 1916, and sentenced to death, which sentence was commuted to penal servitude for life. He was subsequently released.

Liam O'Roisite (William Roche), also elected Sinn Fein member for Cork City, is employed by the Cork County Committee for Technical Instruction as itinerant commercial teacher.

R. Mulcahy, Sinn Fein member for Clontarf, Dublin, was formerly in the engineering department of the post office and was deported to England after the Easter week rising.

John T. O'Kelly, Sinn Fein member for College Green, Dublin, is secretary of the Gaelic League and has been a member of the Dublin Corporation for many years.

Philip Shanahan, Sinn Feiner, is a licensed trader in Dublin and a well-known Sinn Fein worker.

Joseph McGrath, St. James', Dublin, Sinn Fein member, was a commercial clerk in Dublin. He is at present interned in England and was deported after the Easter week rising. He was a prominent Sinn Fein worker in the Dolphin's Barn district of Dublin.

Michael Staines, elected for St. Michan's district of Dublin, is a director of the New Ireland Insurance Company. He took part in the rebellion and was afterward sent to Frongoch, and while there was elected commandant by the prisoners in one of the two camps.

NEW EASTER MORN IN INNISFAIL

By REV. MICHAEL J. EARLS, S. J.,

Holy Cross College, Worcester.

[illegible] One greater trod the dolorous way;
Stamp of His crown on thy queenly head;
And with thy wounded heart see Him run red,
Be His thy trial; brave, though councils prey
In thirty coins. Thy truth fears not dismay,
For truth, though in white folly garmented,
Wears him for seamless coat, Who is not dead:
Pilate and Herod had their little day.

Arise! The morn is lit on Innisfail,
Brighter than dawns of olden poets' song
Through centuries of pain. Yea, comes again
An Easter morn to every loyal Gael;
Entombed justice finds His truth is strong,
And He shall roll away the stone. Amen.

CARDINAL SAYS IRELAND MUST BE HEARD

Ireland has won the right to be heard by a tribunal of the world's nations, declared Cardinal O'Connell in an address to the Hibernians of Suffolk County and the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary at the Cathedral. It was the annual communion day for the Suffolk County divisions of the ancient Catholic and Celtic society, and more than 2,500 men and women participated.

The cardinal's address, in part:

"Ireland through thick and thin, over-ridden by a tyrant race and a tyrant power (I am speaking with perfect calmness and no rancor in my heart), Ireland for seven centuries has stood up against the world, against the pride of the world, the richest of the world and the conquest of the world.

"Is there anything more noble under God's heaven than that page of history the Irish nation has written for seven centuries? And now let the other nations learn from Ireland, because Ireland saw what they never can see—God on his throne of justice.

"Now let them learn the lesson, that is the only lesson today, that can preserve any nation on the face of the earth. If the people of America, France, Germany, Italy and England do not learn that lesson, then their civilization is gone.

"Let Ireland teach the world today as she did eight centuries ago. The world needs the lesson of Christianity. There are plenty who can take that lesson from Ireland who practised it in suffering, in torment and persecution.

"The Irish nation has a right to be heard. She vindicated the right by the spilling of her blood, and if the other nations do not hear it, woe be unto them, for the hour has struck.

"What of tomorrow for Ireland? Well, none of us are prophets except God, who watches and waits for his hour; waits patiently as the Irish people waited patiently, and it will come. It must come.

"To learn to do justice and right to all, rich and poor, humble and lowly, to stand in the face of everything for God, for right and for truth, that is the lesson which the Irish nation of the seven centuries has learned, as no other race has ever learned before. That is the lesson today that the world needs. It is the only one which means anything."

WILL ATTEMPT TO SET NEW ALTITUDE RECORD

New York, March 17.—Major R. W. Shroeder, U. S. A., who holds the world's altitude record of 28,900 feet, will attempt to raise that record in a flight here some time this week. A Loening monoplane, equipped with Hispano-Suiza 300-horsepower engine, will be used.

IRISH SOON FREE, PREDICTS MISS RANKIN

Miss Jeannette Rankin, the only woman ever elected to Congress in the United States, will write for the Boston American and other Hearst newspapers a series of articles on subjects that interest her and her fellow-citizens.

She begins, most appropriately, on this St. Patrick's Day, with an article on the freedom of Ireland. Many readers will learn for the first time that Miss Rankin more than a year ago introduced in the House of Representatives a resolution expressing recognition by the United States of Ireland's right to freedom. Congress adopted such a resolution more than a year later.

By JEANNETTE RANKIN.

Anywhere in the world today you will find men and women wearing something green. It may be a green ribbon, or a whole dress of green silk, or a green shamrock stuck in the hatband of the man.

Wherever you go today you will see the green, telling you that men and women are celebrating with affection and reverence the birthday of Ireland's patron saint.

The green is worn by American sailors, marines and soldiers in far China, in northern Russia, in the streets of Paris and London.

The green is in every American city and village. You will see it in South America, where the Irish made great names for themselves, as they have done all over the world.

What is worth while and powerful lives?

When you see the Irish, proud of their race, proud of their patron saint, all ready to fight for the independence they should have, you realize that the Irish spirit and the Irish demand for freedom have the right to live and will not be destroyed.

People may ask what right I have, especially, to select St. Patrick as my subject.

I haven't any especial right, I suppose, being of Scotch and New England descent. But anybody has a right to praise and discuss a noble character. I suppose that a woman from Montana, of Scotch descent and elected to Congress, can, if she chooses, pay a tribute to the great St. Patrick and his memory.

U. S. FAVORS FREEDOM.

There has been a great deal of talk within the last few weeks about political freedom for Ireland. And Congress has adopted a resolution expressing the belief of this country that the Irish should be free. I may mention that, as a member of Congress, I introduced such a resolution in the House of Representatives more than a year ago, early in January, 1918, just before Mr. Wilson produced his fourteen points.

My resolution put the United States on record to the effect:

"We consider Ireland one of the countries for whose freedom the United States is fighting."

I am convinced that the conscience of England knows well that it is a political crime to deprive Ireland of liberty. But, unfortunately, conscience, which is a pretty small part of man, is an even smaller part of a nation.

The selfish voices are so much louder than the voice of conscience that it is rarely heard, unless the selfish voices get frightened and listen to conscience for their own selfish reasons.

England stands out proudly, slaps herself on the chest, points to the noble Wilberforce, with his frail body and powerful mind, fighting black slavery. A nation that boasts, with good right, of its battle against slavery should recognize also the injustice of political slavery.

I sincerely hope and believe that Lloyd George, the powerful man of England, will give to the present movement to free white Irishmen the support that Pitt gave to Wilberforce in his struggle to free the black men.

Would Leave Problem to U. S. and England

By VICTOR A. HEATH.

According to the doctrines of the constitution of the United States, in my opinion there is really only one answer to the Irish question. Every nation in the world, the people being born free and equal, has a right to self-government.

The Irish people individually and as a race have proved their capacity not only for self-government but for the governing of others. Neither England nor any other country should have the right to govern a people who have proved their capacity and loyalty as the great Irish race has.

The Irish people are certainly entitled to an opportunity to demonstrate the fact that Ireland, under a strictly Irish rule, would be better for the people and the country. This is a matter that England should thresh out if necessary with the United States personally, but not at the peace table.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion.

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescing, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Advertisement.

Present Ireland's Claims at the Peace Table, Urges Walsh

By SENATOR DAVID I. WALSH.

The United States representatives should present at the Peace Conference the overwhelming sentiment of America in favor of self-determination for Ireland. They should insist that a vote be taken and every delegate from every country represented at the Peace Conference placed on record.

I can see difficulties in the handling and settlement of this question, but I can see no difficulty that should stand in the way of letting the world know just what statesmen and nations are opposed to giving Ireland her rights or or getting even the amount of justice and self-government that Great Britain accords to Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

Let Americans of Irish blood be patient. Let our confidence remain unshaken to the end in the great American who has made this war one of ideals, and who has given hope of a new day and a new democracy to the peoples of the world.

Above everything else, let us not injure the Irish cause by basing our opposition to great public policies on hostilities, prejudices and animosities growing out of European politics. Let every man of Irish blood face his duty as an American citizen in passing upon national and international questions.

The test to apply is whether it is best for America—not whether it will lessen the influence and prestige of any other country. In a word, in our enthusiasm and zeal to help the land of our ancestors, let us remember to be Americans first, to stand and fight for American ideals and promote every great cause that will advance the prosperity and happiness of our beloved country. In that way we shall best help Ireland realize her ideal—the ideal of self-government.

THE DEAF HEAR

"I had been deaf for fifteen years in my right ear and for five years I had been deaf in my left ear. I could not hear ordinary conversation. I could not hear at church or at the theatre," said Mrs. George W. Sharpe, 15 Akron St., Roxbury. She continued, "I had been treated by an ear specialist for six months with no signs of improvement when my attention was attracted by the testimonials from deaf people who had been restored to hearing by the Osmo-Chemic Physicians. I took advantage of the liberal offer these physicians made and to my intense gratification there was an immediate change for the better. I can now hear at church and theatre and ordinary conversation without difficulty."

The wonderful power of the X-RAY TREATMENT is proved by the fact that they are accomplishing wonderful results in diseases of every description—CATARRH, DEAFNESS, BRONCHITIS, STOMACH DISEASE, NERVOUS DISORDERS, SKIN DISEASE, BIRTHMARKS, MOLES, FACIAL BLEMISHES, ETC.

No matter what your disease may be, remember that the Osmo-Chemic doctor gives

O'CONNOR TELLS OF IRISH MOOD IN THE U. S.

Noted Writer Says There Is a Strong Anti-English Movement Here

By T. P. O'CONNOR.

Written Expressly for the International News Service.

Mr. O'Connor has long been a member of the British Parliament as an Irish Nationalist, where he consistently championed the cause of Ireland. Outside of statesmanship he has had a brilliant career as a journalist. He is exceptionally well known in the United States, and recently visited this country.

London, March 17.—Many times I have uttered warnings to British statesmen, and I now warn them again—they are as blind and deaf to conditions in Ireland as the statesmen who antagonized and lost the American colonies in the eighteenth century.

I hope that my continued warnings will be heard and appreciated by the intelligent sections of all parties before it is too late.

My thirteen months' stay in the United States convinced me that there is a stronger anti-British movement there now than at any period of my life, and its main inspiration is due to the British policy towards Ireland. Unless checked, this movement may have serious effect not only upon the Anglo-American relations, but may seriously embarrass the working out of the League of Nations, which has its main reliance upon perfect Anglo-Saxon accord.

The present government's policy of "drift" towards things Irish may be disastrous. The government is so absorbed in the peace conference that it fails to see signs of war at home; so concerned with reconstruction problems that it ignores the most crying problem which existed before the war, and is now more serious than at any other time.

The Home Rule act comes into operation automatically six months after peace has been signed, but what about the interim?

In Ireland things are drifting from bad to worse. Militarism balances revolution on one hand, and on the other is the sullen menace of bitter resentment.

Favors Home Rule on the Canadian or Australian Plan

By EDMUND D. CODMAN.

I am in favor of Home Rule for Ireland. Of course there is one thing to remember: the propinquity or geographical relation of Ireland to England makes the question of independence a very serious one. I think Ireland would be better off with Home Rule as a part of the British Empire, somewhat on the lines of Canada or Australia.

TENEMENT DWELLERS FLEE ATTLEBORO FIRE

Attleboro, March 17.—Fire destroyed the three-tenement house owned by Mrs. Stella Smith, at No. 15 Oak street. The occupants were forced to flee to the street when a thick cloud of smoke rose from the cellar through the upper floors.

New York, March 17.—Three thousand American tank fighters who drove the big "land battleships" through the Hindenburg line arrived here today, with more than 3,000 other veterans on the transports Patria, Europa and W. A. Luckenbach.

The Patria nosed through to Quarantine before she was forced to anchor and the Europa and Luckenbach are "fog locked" off Sandy Hook.

Aboard the Patria were 2,110 soldiers including the 304th Brigade Trench Corps, sixty-five officers and 1,456 men who will be sent to Camps Custer, Devens, Dix, Dodge, Funston, Grant, Jackson, Meade, Pike, Sherman, Taylor and Merritt; Casualty Company 1,907, Louisiana, 2 officers and 83 men; No. 1,905, Texas, 1 officer, 103 men; No. 1,909, Arkansas, 1 officer, 96 men; No. 1,913, New York, 3 officers, 105 men; No. 1,918, North Dakota, 1 officer and 70 men.

More men of the 37th Division, which is to parade here next week, will arrive tomorrow on the battleship Missouri. Other ships due tomorrow are the Harrisburg, from Brest, with 2,303 men; cruiser Charleston, Brest, 1,271 men, and the Argentina, from Marseilles, 1,165 men.

By SENATOR DAVID I. WALSH.

The United States representatives should present at the Peace Conference the overwhelming sentiment of America in favor of self-dtermination for Ireland. They should insist that a vote be taken and every delegate from every country represented at the Peace Conference placed on record.

I can see difficulties in the handling and settlement of this question, but I can see no difficulty that should stand in the way of letting the world know just what statesmen and nations are opposed to giving Ireland her rights or or getting even the amount of justice and self-government that Great Britain accords to Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

Let Americans of Irish blood be patient. Let our confidence remain unshaken to the end in the great American who has made this war one of ideals, and who has given hope of a new day and a new democracy to the peoples of the world.

Above everything else, let us not injure the Irish cause by basing our opposition to great public policies on hostilities, prejudices and animosities growing out of European politics. Let every man of Irish blood face his duty as an American citizen in passing upon national and international questions.

The test to apply is whether it is best for America—not whether it will lessen the influence and prestige of any other country. In a word, in our enthusiasm and zeal to help the land of our ancestors, let us remember to be Americans first, to stand and fight for American ideals and promote every great cause that will advance the prosperity and happiness of our beloved country. In that way we shall best help Ireland realize her ideal—the ideal of self-government.

THE DEAF HEAR

"I had been deaf for fifteen years in my right ear and for five years I had been deaf in my left ear. I could not hear ordinary conversation. I could not hear at church or at the theatre," said Mrs. George W. Sharpe, 15 Akron St., Roxbury. She continued, "I had been treated by an ear specialist for six months with no signs of improvement when my attention was attracted by the testimonials from deaf people who had been restored to hearing by the Osmo-Chemic Physicians. I took advantage of the liberal offer these physicians made and to my intense gratification there was an immediate change for the better. I can now hear at church and theatre and ordinary conversation without difficulty."

The wonderful power of the X-RAY TREATMENT is proved by the fact that they are accomplishing wonderful results in diseases of every description—CATARRH, DEAFNESS, BRONCHITIS, STOMACH DISEASE, NERVOUS DISORDERS, SKIN DISEASE, BIRTHMARKS, MOLES, FACIAL BLEMISHES, ETC.

ERZBERGER IS CURBED BY FOCH AT DRAMATIC ARMISTICE SESSIONS

GERMANY'S ENVOY REMINDED THAT 'WAR WAS STILL ON'

By Univers al Service.

Berlin, March 17.—Now that a final agreement has been reached by the German and Allied commissions at Brussels and the blockade is partly lifted, it is interesting to peruse detailed accounts of the various stormy armistice sessions at Spa and Treves just released for publication in the German newspapers.

Here is a sequel to the recent exclusive Universal Service "inside" story of the duel of wits between Marshal Foch and Dr. Mathias Erzberger, chairman of the German armistice commission.

On various occasions Dr. Erzberger launched into lengthy lectures on "justice" and "humanity" to which Marshal Foch replied with heat that he refused to accept either instruction or criticism from the German commissioner.

Repeatedly, too, Erzberger had to be reminded that the war is still on. A dramatic scene ensued when Erzberger declared "Germany refused to become the financial slave of the entente." That to reduce her to such slavery the allies' chief aim, was an accusation reiterated again and again by Erzberger.

PROTESTS CHARGES.

He, as well as the Ebert government, in an official protest, made a number of other charges, some of which were:

1—That the allies, in notes and statements setting forth their demands expressed "unconcealed joy over being in a position to cripple and humiliate Germany."

2—That the allies were demanding things incompatible with German "dignity" and "honor."

3—That Germany was tricked into the armistice by making her believe President Wilson's fourteen points were to be scrupulously lived up to.

4—That the allies' aim was to render her defenceless first and then crush her completely.

5—That the allies alone were responsible for Germany's inability to fulfill the original armistice conditions.

6—That the allies themselves "systematically voted the armistice agreement."

CALLS EXPULSION BRUTAL.

7—That France was "brutally expelling" Germans from Alsace-Lorraine on a 24-hour notice.

One particularly lively dialogue between Foch and Erzberger, as recounted in the German press follows:

Erzburger: "Germany has reached the utmost limit of possibilities. We must, therefore, reject any punitive measures and demand a postponement of the date of delivery. Germany is determined to fulfill the armistice conditions scrupulously, but the Allies on their part have systematically violated the armistice agreement. Unhindered traffic and economic freedom of movement between the occupied territories and the rest of Germany have been destroyed.

"We are particularly filled with indignation at the procedure of the force of occupation in Alsace-Lorraine. The brutal expulsion of German officials as well as numerous members of all professions and all classes of society who, in most cases, have been forced to leave within twenty-four hours, without their belongings and without regard of future chance of existence. Furthermore, the complete isolation of Alsace-Lorraine from economic and spiritual intercourse with the rest of Germany has given tremendous spurt to the flames of indignation, not only in Northern and Southern Germany, but among the old inhabitants of Alsace-Lorraine themselves.

TREATED AS FOREIGNERS.

"In addition the entire property of Germans in Alsace-Lorraine has been confiscated; citizens of Alsace-Lorraine returning to their native land have been deprived of their liberty, and all persons in the provinces who were not citizens of France in 1871, either by their own adherence or by virtue of their ancestry, are treated as foreigners, despite the fact that Alsace-Lorraine must, until a decision is reached by the peace conference, absolutely be regarded as a German.

"All measures taken by the French government in Alsace-Lorraine prove that France means to anticipate the decision of the peace treaty and to annex Alsace-Lorraine, without paying the slightest heed to the right or self-determination, so often and so noisily demanded."

Foch: "The expulsions from Alsace-Lorraine have nothing to do with the French government. These are purely military questions. The military aim is the security of the Allied troops.

"I refuse to accept either instruction or criticism regarding measures of a military nature. Meantime I remind you of the German conduct in Lille and northern France."

Erzberger: "That was in war. We are now living in the period of armistice."

NOT AT PEACE WITH GERMANY.

Foch: "France is not at peace with Germany. I am a soldier. When there is war there is no peace. There is no third condition."

Erzberger: "The third condition is armistice. While the war was on, I personally transmitted through German soldiers news to inhabitants of Lille regarding their relatives.

"The least that could be done is to ameliorate the hardships of the people of Alsace-Lorraine by lifting the postal blockade."

Foch: "Let us drop this subject. I stand by my declaration; a comparison with Lille and Northern France would not be in your favor. The state of war in Alsace-Lorraine will be altered in no way whatever."

Erzberger: "That is to be deeply regretted, for only innocent people are suffering, and it can be no advantage to France."

Thereupon the German chairman declared, "Germany refuses to become the financial slave of the Entente." Foch's sharp answer to this was:

"I reject the insinuation that the inter-allied finance commission and representatives of the French government deserve the charge of Bolshevism."

Erzberger: "I am only citing facts. And it is a fact that if we were to accept the French financial conditions the situation in Germany would become such that a certain resemblance to Bolshevism would be indisputable."

WAR QUESTION NOT LEGAL.

Foch: "These are armistice negotiations, and we are to deal here only with war questions, not with legal questions."

Erzberger: "Agreed—that is a legal question; we shall not negotiate about it at all hereafter."

To this declaration Foch made no reply.

In the course of a lengthy speech, Dr. Erzberger asked three questions of Marshal Foch:

1—"When will you lift the blockade? Our political situation depends largely upon the food question, and the shortage is becoming worse daily. The German people has consented to become weaponless, but it will not consent to becoming breadless. Hunger would bring about a situation the consequences of which even the Allies cannot desire. I warn you. Not even the Entente countries are invulnerable in the face of the world revolution.

2—"Will the Entente now enter into pledges with regard to the immediate repatriation of German prisoners? The regulation of this question should be part of the preliminary peace.

3—"When will we be in a position to conclude a preliminary peace? The German government has requested more than six times a definite declaration regarding the conclusion of a preliminary peace. No reply has been made.

"To the force of the victor I oppose the eternal right of the German people to develop and prosper. This right is sacred and inviolable."

Hoboes Deny Armour Admission to the Select 'Frat'

Chicago, March 17.—J. Ogden Armour is not a member of the Chicago Society of Vagabonds today. Some 150 alleged hoboes met here to consider, incidentally, his admission as a "brother." President Mike Walsh was enthusiastic, but the packer received only one vote.

"He ain't a bad sort of a guy," said Mike. "He says to me here a few weeks ago, he says, 'How would you like to swap places with me?' and I says, says I, 'I can't do it, J. O., I like de wild and de free too much.'

"But, he's human, he is. Onct he gave me $1,000 to build a house. He always gives money to hoboes what go to see him at his office."

15,000,000 IN KOREA READY TO REVOLT

By Universal Service.

Washington, March 17.—Fifteen million Koreans are prepared to undertake a revolution against their Japanese rulers, if the right of self-determination and a satisfactory mandatory under the League of Nations is not granted Korea by the peace conference at Paris, according to facts disclosed by private advices received here.

The people of Korea who have been under the sway of the Japanese people since the Russo-Japanese War have been organized from one end of the country to the other and believe that they have the strength to bring an upheaval, as unanimous as that of the Russians, and one which will force the world to recognize their right to independence.

LEAGUE MUST BE SETTLED FIRST, SAYS DILLON

By DR. E. J. DILLON.

Special Cable to the Boston American and Philadelphia Public Ledger.

(Copyright in the United States and Canada by the Philadelphia Ledger Company. Copyright in Europe by London Daily Telegraph.)

Paris, March 17.—As the most momentous and rapid decisions of the peace conference have been reached at informal meetings of the delegates, the same method is being employed extensively now that President Wilson has returned. The principal questions for final settlement are the German frontiers and the nexus between the peace terms and the League of Nations. Hitherto the prevalent conception was that the league scheme might be usefully deferred with various other problems until after the preliminary terms were signed, but it has been pointed out that Mr. Wilson declared in America that the league is indispensible to the conclusion of a satisfactory peace and, therefore, the matter must be debated.

Two wholly different European elements ardently desire the establishment of the League of Nations with the American people as one of the principal partners; those who believe that United Anglo-Saxondom could impose peace upon the world by preponderance of resources and combine it with equity in virtue of the moderation, fairness and disinterestedness of the respective peoples, and those who view the League of Nations as an inexhaustible source for all sorts of supplies during the lean years that must follow the signing of the peace treaty.

By the latter, America is expected to help police central Europe, to pool her finances with her associates, provide them with ample raw materials on generous terms and pledge her faith to maintain the territorial status quo which will emerge from the conference.

The people of the United States being the best judges of their own interests, national and international, need no counsel from here, but contemplating affairs from the European viewpoint, I am unable to discern how the new and the old states, with the possible exception of the British empire, can extricate themselves from the bog in which they are now floundering without an international combine, but whether even that would suffice to enable Europe to tide peacefully over the transitional period now beginning is, in my judgment, problematical. The seeds of future sanguinary struggles are being unwittingly sown with a lavish hand throughout Europe.

FEAR DELAY IN SIGNING OF PEACE

other away from the peace work. The result is that the round-table labors drag.

MAY DELAY TREATY.

During the absence of President Wilson in the United States, both the British and French delegates were actually alarmed at reports from Germany that the country was fast falling a prey to Bolshevism.

Their whole efforts heretofore had been bent towards putting through tentative peace arrangements which would expedite the demobilization of their own armies, and restore European trade, and, by allowing Germany immediately to resume international relations under restrictions, enable her to build up her wrecked commerce and feed her starving millions with American food.

There is a feeling in conference circles that, unless President Wilson is able to perform miracles, the preliminary treaty may not be signed by March 20, but must be delayed for several weeks, if the President's determination to make the League of Nations covenant a part of it, is destined to prevail.

BACKED BY LLOYD GEORGE.

It was found, when British circles were sounded, that they understood the President's intentions were to get the preliminary treaty with Germany out of the way first, making the League of Nations covenant an integral part of the final treaty. Some surprise was expressed in this quarter that the President's plan was to delay the preliminaries until the League of Nation's constitution was framed.

This must not be taken to mean that the British are antagonistic to President Wilson's viewpoint. On the contrary nowhere is the chief of the American delegation likely to find such strong backing in his fight this week as from Premier Lloyd George. The British premier, more than any other non-American delegate, is sympathetic to the President's ideals and methods.

Nevertheless, it is understood that the British delegates will require it to be known whether the conference can delay the preliminary peace treaty without allowing Germany to drift into anarchy. They are even more insistent upon this alleged peril than are the French.

The Polish Commission reported to the Council of Ten today. It is proposed to give the Baltic port of Dantzig to the Poles and also a strip of land, sixty miles wide, extending northward from the main Polish nucleus to the port. The Germans are to be granted freedom of transit across this Polish corridor to east Prussia.

WORK OF PROVISIONING.

A plebiscite is recommended for the section south of the northern boundary of Allenstein to enable the thousands of Protestant Poles living in the Mazurian Lakes district to say whether they wish to join Catholic Poland.

(Allenstein is in East Prussia, on the Alle river, sixty-five miles south of Koenigsberg.)

The work of provisioning is proceeding slowly. Over 4,000 tons of flour and 200 tons of fats have been delivered to Czecho-Slovakia, but 25,000 tons of foodstuffs are still held up at Trieste by lack of transportation facilities.

The Germans have agreed to allow shipments to Prague (the capital of Czecho-Slovakia) by way of Hamburg and the Elbe river. With improvements in railway carrying capacity put through by Colonel Ryan and Colonel Causing at Vienna, it is expected that the acutest phase of the food crisis in Czecho-Slovakia will be passed this week.

President Wilson Is "Standing Pat" on All Peace Problems

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN,

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, March 17.—President Wilson is "standing pat" on all the problems of the peace conference. That he has not changed his attitude, and that the American attitude in general has not been changed, was made plain by the President today to his peace colleagues.

In settlement of certain perplexing questions the President is insistent that the principles for which he has declared himself shall be observed.

PRIEST SAYS AMERICA OWES DEBT TO IRELAND

More than 1,000 persons assembled at Notre Dame Academy applauded Rev. I. J. Corrigan, S. J., when he declared that because Irishmen assisted George Washington in founding the United States of America, Americans should support Ireland's claim for self-determination.

"The day is fast approaching when Ireland will be free," he said, "and on every lip you hear the question, 'What is coming to Ireland?' In spite of every effort of vicious propaganda this question still remains, and must be answered by the peace conference."

TUGBOAT SUNK IN HEAVY FOG IN NEW YORK

By International News Service.

New York, March 17.—Two collisions, the sinking of a tugboat, a number of minor accidents and general paralysis of harbor traffic, were the result of a heavy fog which blanketed New York waters today. Mariners declared the weather was the thickest experienced this winter.

The tugboat Jameson, chartered by a sugar refining company, was sunk as a result of one of the collisions. The tug was rammed by the steamer Lexington, inbound from Providence, in the East river. Members of the tug's crew were all safely landed. Hundreds of passengers aboard the Lexington witnessed the accident.

The ferryboat Queens figured in a collision also, smashing her bows and making her slip at St. George, S. I., with great difficulty, after ramming a freighter at anchor just below the Statue of Liberty.

The municipal ferryboat Mayor Gaynor grazed another freighter in the same vicinity and lost a small section of her upper deck. Other collisions were avoided only through expert handling of harbor craft and the fact that all craft crept back and forth at a snail's pace.

Many tugs and ferry boats were kept tied up at their slips. Among these is the steamer Highlander, which carries thousands of workers to Shooters' Island shipyards daily. The Highlander, which has been tied up by the harbor strike, was expected to resume service today, but did not leave her pier because of the fog.

Girl Scouts to Get Badges

Arlington Girl Scouts are planning an open meeting, at which many of the scouts in the troop will receive merit badges. The scouts will give a play at this time.

PICKET ARMY AT LAWRENCE IS DISPERSED

Lawrence, March 17.—A small army Maurice Fitzgerald to his followers. of strike pickets, led by a discharged soldier in uniform, was charged and dispersed by the police today in Common street, and the leader, Frank Ribaudo, was arrested. He will be charged with disturbance.

The pickets were not molested until their straggling parade took them within sight of the police station. The "strike cavalry" was immediately ordered to break them up, and moved through the crowd amid jeers, "boohs" and threats.

Police Commissioner Carr states that Ribaudo was heard to give the command to "pull the mounted police from their horses," and to have particularly indicated Mounted Officer

The seventh week of the textile strike opened with more disorder than has figured in the labor trouble here since the beginning. Tony Calley, of Methuen, was arrested for circulating through a crowd of pickets with a loaded revolver. Angelo Zeppia was taken into custody charged with intimidating workers about to board street cars to go to the mills.

A trolley wire in Jackson street was cut, and the police suspect the strikers.

When Ribaudo was brought into police court, Judge Mahoney asked him if strike leaders had requested him to put on his uniform and go out on the picket lines. Ribaudo replied that they had not.

"There is too much of this sort of thing by men who try to start violence and then get immunity because of their uniforms," said Judge Mahoney, as he instructed Captain Sullivan to inform Federal authorities of the alleged prevalence of this custom among Lawrence strikers. Ribaudo was fined $20.

Reading advertisements has helped to make this a united country

Jim Hawkins props his feet on the rose festooned porch railing in an Oregon suburb and reads the same motor car advertisement that Cousin Peter is studying as he rides home from work in the New York subway. In Arizona you can buy the same tooth paste and tobacco that are used by the folks in Maine.

California fruit growers advertise their oranges and lemons to the people of the East. New Hampshire factories make ice cream freezers for Texas households.

There can be no division in a country so bound together by taste, habit and custom.

You can meet up with anybody in the United States and quickly get on a conversational footing because you both read the same advertisements.

Advertising is the daily guide to what's good to buy.

Advertisements give you the latest news from the front line of business progress.

Reading advertisements enables you to get more for your money, because they tell you where, what and when to buy.

And it is a well-known fact that advertised goods are more reliable and better value than the unadvertised kinds.

FAVOR PHYSICAL VALUATION OF GAS PLANT

Dorchester Trade Board Believes Outstanding Capital Exceeds Property Value

Calling attention to the necessity for a physical valuation of the property of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, Daniel P. Delano, chairman of the legislative committee of the Dorchester Board of Trade and a former president of that organization, has given the American some eye-opening facts to use in its fight for honest gas charges.

"The attitude of the Dorchester Board of Trade is that gas prices are unreasonable and increases uncalled for," declared Mr. Delano. He said that the gas company had protested against having a physical valuation made of its plant, pointing to the fact that it would cost the State much money. "We maintain it should be done, as we believe the capital outstanding is from 100 to 300 per cent. in excess of the value of the property," said Mr. Delano.

MAKES TWO-THIRD PROFIT.

"The price paid by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company for one-third of the gas they use is 29½ cents a thousand cubic feet. It makes the other two-thirds. The contract for the gas they buy calls for that price for the duration of the war and for two years thereafter. The gas they manufacture costs them 42 cents, they claim.

Therefore the gas, on their own admission, costs 37.93 cents per thousand cubic feet. They claim it costs 61 cents to deliver gas at the tip. Hence it costs them 23.17 cents to distribute it from the holder and they claim that the difference between 61 cents and $1 or 39 cents, is a reasonable figure for overhead charges.

"It is iteresting to note that in Baltimore the company sells gas for 39 cents, or just what the Boston Consolidated Gas Company says it costs for overhead charges—and the Baltimore company is not losing money.

"Does it not seem expedient to any reasonable person that the Boston American should be supported in forcing a real investigation into the gas situation?

IGNORED BENEFIT TO CONSUMER.

"One of the State gas and electric light commissioners told our Board of Trade representatives that the Boston Consolidated Gas Company had refused to obey the provisions of the sliding scale act that would benefit the consumer, but had taken full advantage of every section of said law that would let them take advantage of the consumer.

"The Massachusetts gas companies, being the parent or holding company for many subsidiary gas and products concerns, do not feel badly when they increase the price of gas of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company and thereby reduce by a part of 1 per cent. their dividend rates, because the increased retail price of the other subsidiary companies and the greatly increased returns directly or indirectly to the other corporations that make up the combination show the promoters the interest and the stockholders materially increased assets and dividends in the six or more other connecting companies. In other words, they can afford to lose half of 1 per cent. in one company to pick up 1 or more per cent. in six of their other companies."

IN GAS FIXTURE BUSINESS.

"The public should know that the gas company is in the gas fixture business and that their present gas is peculiarly well adapted to make a flourishing market for fixtures, mantels and other patented articles, the cost of which, if the public stopped to reckon into gas bills, would have caused them long ago to have moved against this monopoly.

Meanwhile, with complaints coming into the American office from many sources, Mrs. Bessie Waldman of No. 70 Maywood street, Roxbury, the original overcharge victim, continues her fight against the Boston Consolidated Gas Co. Louis Stahl, who conducts a dry goods store at No. 1901 Washington street, has on display in his store window the first of a series of signs Mrs. Waldman has prepared. This one reads:

"To all Gas Consumers:

"Do you want Honest Bills?

"Do you want cheaper gas light?

"Please leave your name and address

"And help us win our rights."

The petition inside the store already bears many signatures. Mr. Stahl complains that the gas blows so strong through the fixtures in his store that it breaks the mantles. At his home, he said, his bills averaged $2.25 monthly until January, when he received a bill for $9.40, which he paid under protest. He lives at No. 72 Maywood street, Roxbury.

Mrs. Waldman declares that if appeal to Mayor Peters does not secure a free hall in which to have a gas indignation meeting that she and other interested parties will give a concert, the funds from which will be used to rent a hall. Mrs. Waldman, who was born in Dublin, is proficient on five musical instruments.

TINKHAM WANTS WORK FOR NAVY YARD MEN

Congressman George Holden Tinkham has taken up with the Navy and War Departments the matter of sending to the Boston Navy Yard for necessary repairs, troop-ships plying between England, France and America. At the present time about 40 per cent. of the personnel of 10,000 men now employed at the Boston Yard are subject to lay off because of lack of appropriations.

CHILDREN'S THEATRE BOSTON'S LATEST

Saramae McKenna as the Hen and Billie Sproul as the Rooster in play presented at the Children's Theatre.

Little plays for little people!

Why not?

Children need play—and plays. So thought Misses Imogene Hogel and Beulah Folmsbee of the Emerson College of Oratory; and so they started a Children's Theatre in Boston. Misses Hogel and Folmsbee are members of the senior class at Emerson College, and on their recommendation the senior class took the matter up, and now every other Saturday throngs of children are entertained with real children's plays in the auditorium at Huntington Chambers. The project will continue through April; and though it keeps the seniors pretty busy, it has proved such a success that already the class of 1920 is considering future plans and hoping to stage weekly performances for the children next year.

The idea, as Miss Hogle explained, is two-fold: to stimulate interest in the children's theatre idea, and to encourage the writing of plays for children. Accordingly an effort is made to put on an original play at each performance, plays from any pupil of the college being considered. A novel feature is that the ushers are instructed to ask the children's opinion on each play after the performance, and thus authors and producers get the childish attitude of mind and reaction, for future help in writing and staging the children's plays.

TWO PLAYS PRESENTED.

At first Miss Hogle and Miss Folmsbee had charge of everything, but a division of labor has been found necessary, and each week new girls coach the plays. Saturday the bill included "Hansel and Gretel" and "The House in the Woods," the latter an adaptation. Miss Caroline Vance of Georgia coached the first, and Miss Oahlee Hubbard of California the second play.

The cast of "Hansel and Gretel" included Misses Catherine Smith, of Georgia, as Hansel; Cassie Bently, of Ohio, as Gretel; Mrs. Helene Staples, as the Old Witch; Vera Blandford, of Hamilton, Ontario, as the Mother; Helen Sayles, of Texas, as the Father; Wilmette Sproul, of Chicago, as the Sandman, and a number of minor characters.

The principals in "The House in the Woods" included Miss Mary Mann, of Concord, as The Good Little Girl; Callie Calloway, of California, as The Enchanted Prince, who marries her; Frances Shulze, of Ohio, as The Rooster; Saramae McKenna, of Louisiana, as The Hen; Irene Thomas, of New York, and Geraldine M'Gaughn, of Brockton, as the two Untidy Sisters.

STORY INSTEAD OF PROGRAM.

A feature of the Children's Theatre is the use of a page or story-teller instead of printed programs—printed programs are just for grown-ups, anyway, believes Miss Hogel. The official story-teller of the Children's Theatre is Miss Ethel Mae Duncan, and Saturday she acted as "page" also, telling the connecting story-links between each scene of the little plays, as well as the other stories which belong properly to a children's story-telling hour, and which were greatly enjoyed by the little folks.

URGE LIBERAL GIFTS IN HEALTH CAMPAIGN

Only One-Fourth of the $270,000 Needed Subscribed During First Week

Today marked the opening of the second "Health Campaign" week. With only one-fourth subscribed of the $270,000 needed for the Boston Dispensary, the Baby Hygiene Association and the District Nursing Association, workers undertook their labors with redoubled vigor.

Following an appeal from clergymen of all churches, and a mass meeting at the Allston Theatre at which Chairman William A. Muller, Major Carroll Swan, Judge Thomas Dowd and Health Commissioner William C. Woodward spoke, leaders in the drive were hopeful today that the public would be awakened to the need of early and liberal subscriptions.

It was pointed out by speakers in aid of the fund that money invested now in preventive work would save thousands in fighting such epidemics as caused a panic here in the Fall. Dr. John B. Blake said:

"In the long run the better the health of the people is protected the smaller will be the amounts of money needed for permanent and new hospital buildings. Prevention is less expensive as well as more possible than cure."

$175,000,000 Fund for Bolshevik Revolt in Germany

By JOHN POLLOCK,

Exclusive Cable by the International News Service and the London Daily Express.

Helsingfors, Finland, March 16, via London, March 17.—The Russian Bolshevik government is sending $175,000,000 into Germany to finance the revolutionary organizations, it was learned today from an authoritative source. This is further proof of the contention that a general European Bolshevik conflagration can only be averted by the crushing of Bolshevism in Russia and by using a strong armed force to capture Petrograd, it was said.

The establishment of a Polish buffer state against Bolshevism is believed in some quarters to be foredoomed to failure. There is now grave danger that Esthonia is contemplating a separate peace with the Soviet government.

GERMANS WILL PROTEST DISARMING HELGOLAND

London, March 17.—The German envoys to Paris will strongly oppose any interference with Helgoland, according to a dispatch from Basle today. The opposition to the demolition of the forts on Helgoland is said to be due to the pressure of German naval men, who contend that the destruction of this German naval base would render the Kiel Canal useless to Germany.

150 FLEE FROM FIRE IN HOTEL HARVARD

Guests Routed From Bed by Smoke in Huntington Avenue Building

One hundred and fifty guests of the Hotel Harvard at No. 640 Huntington avenue were driven from their beds today when smoke, rolling up from a blaze in a rear passageway, filled the halls and rooms.

Night Clerk Robert Hazzard was informed of the fire in the rear by Patrolman William W. Jordan of the Roxbury Crossing station, and almost at the same moment the smoke came rolling up through an air shaft and flooded the halls and guest rooms.

All the house telephones were pressed into service in warning the tenants of the sixty-five suites, and men and women prominent in the political, commercial or social life of Boston came pouring into the hotel office scantily clad, and clutching such few valuables as they had been able to snatch from their bureaus.

For a few minutes the situation seemed serious, as the black smoke from the burning debris in the passageway filled the house, and a few of the more timorous threw blankets, fur coats or opera cloaks over their night clothes and fled to the street.

Acting Deputy Chief Mulligan arrived in charge of the firemen and found it necessary to put a line into the passageway, and after some rapid work in their cramped quarters the fire-fighters succeeded in extinguishing the blaze, which had done $300 damage.

The hotel structure itself was not damaged.

CROWDS BUYING AUTOMOBILES AT THE SHOW

Exhibit This Year Promises to Break Records for Attendance and Sales

By C. F. DONNOCKER.

One of the biggest crowds that ever passed through the doors of Mechanics Building witnessed the opening of the [illegible] Annual Automobile Show Saturday, and [illegible] if that may be taken as a barometer this show will be a record breaker for attendance.

Not only was there a big crowd but it was an enthusiastic crowd and one anxious to [illegible]. Several of the [illegible] dealers said that the business started with the opening of the doors and every exhibit is delighted with the [illegible].

IS A BIG SELLING SHOW.

There are several reasons why this should be a big selling show. Many people refrained from buying cars during the war for patriotic reasons, many of the [illegible] buyers were in the service and still others felt that their money was needed in furthering the [illegible] were necessary to win the war.

The war is over and they are ready to purchase new cars. [illegible] have done valiant service [illegible] newest models are so attractive that no one can resist the desire to have one.

LAX PERIODS BEST FOR SALES.

The public should not forget that the morning and early afternoon furnish one of the best times for seeing the exhibit and examining carefully the mechanical features of the show. The crowds are not as big at these periods and there is ample time to [illegible] a full explanation of any new feature, which the [illegible] will be only too glad to give.

Champion Plugs Serviceable and Easy to Keep Clean

The Champion Spark Plug Company of Toledo, O., manufacturers of the Champion Dependable spark plugs, produces three [illegible] types of plugs that are specially adapted for tractor and truck service.

Of the three probably the Champion "tractor" plug is the best known on account of its use as regular factory equipment on Fordson tractors. This is the plug that was ultimately chosen by the Fordson engineers after innumerable tests extending over a period of six moths.

EASY TO CLEAN.

It is of two-piece construction which makes it easy to take apart and clean. The length of the shell is just right to bring the electrodes into the combustion chamber. The fixed electrode has the same feature that characterizes all other Champion types, that is, the sparking end of the electrode will drip away from the sparking point.

The insulator is made of the finest porcelain mixture obtainable and is the result of years of experimenting and research work in the laboratories maintained by the company.

GASKETS PROTECT PLUG.

Two patented copper gaskets lined with asbestos protect the shoulders of the porcelain where the pressure is greatest—this gasket construction being an exclusive feature of the Champion line.

The "tractor" plug is recommended by its makers for service on all trucks and tractors where a standard half-inch plug is used. The [illegible] Champion plugs [illegible] is guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction to the user or full repair or replacement will be made.

Light and Economical Four-Cylinder Machines Proving Most Popular

"The four-cylinder car is coming into its own more and more each day." This was the positive assertion made by F. H. Lucas, president Mitchell-Lucas Company, [illegible] Templar distributor.

"The wonderful economical advantages the [illegible] of speed, power and endurance [illegible] are being recognized more [illegible] than ever before [illegible] continue.

"There are a [illegible] arguments in favor of the four-cylinder motor. It has proved more efficient than those of six, eight and twelve cylinders because it is less complicated in its construction and requires less adjustment.

"The cost of maintenance is but a fraction of that involved in the multi-cylinder types. The operating costs, including gasoline and oil, are correspondingly low.

"The supremacy of the 'four,' where continuous and strenuous service is involved, was demonstrated absolutely during the war. The results obtained from four-cylinder trucks by the motor transport corps testify to that.

"For speed and endurance nothing will surpass the four. You will recall that practically all racing records in existence today were made with it.

"With such proof of its merit at hand you will readily understand why we of the Templar Motors Corporation have concentrated our efforts on producing four-cylinder [illegible].

"The buying public today is demanding a medium size, medium-price, lightweight car which combines performance, appearance and economy, not only in gasoline, oil and tires, but in upkeep. That's the car we are building over in Cleveland—a car that will run every day in the year at a minimum cost and requires but little mechanical attention.

BREAK IN RANKS OF NON-PARTISAN LEAGUE

Bismarck, N. D., March 17.—After four years of ascendancy in which old line political organizations were all but wiped out, a break has come in the ranks of the Non-Partisan League that may have far-reaching effect according to those watching the [illegible] of political events in the Northwest. Four State officers, elected by the League, threw down the gauntlet to the leaders of that movement by officially announcing themselves opposed to important laws enacted by the recent league-controlled Legislature.

Greb Lock Effective Protection Against Auto Thieves

[illegible] exhibit boasts of a [illegible] lock that appears to be [illegible] for protection against thieves. It can be applied [illegible] a very few minutes.

[illegible] hardened steel hexagon head screws are used to fasten the clamp of the lock around the steering post. These [illegible] heads break off when tightened to [illegible], leaving no chance for [illegible] on the screw. No hack saw or file can take an [illegible] lock.

In order to prevent removal of the lock by [illegible] sliding the clamps along the steering post, an inwardly extending pin is used in the rear clamp which enters a [illegible] steering post.

COUNTRY SHORT SOME 750,000 AUTOMOBILES

By T. J. TONER,

Director of Sales, Maxwell-Chalmers Motor Companies.

[illegible] Europe [illegible] the [illegible] American [illegible] of a [illegible] at the station platform [illegible] suitcases in hand—just back from a long trip away from home.

[illegible] industry back of Uncle Sam gave more than the automobile industry and our industry gave [illegible] since it gave quickly and effectively.

What the aggregate production of the motor car factories amounted to in turning [illegible] is pretty well known. [illegible] of one factor which is [illegible] of transcendent importance [illegible] the past ten weeks. I mean [illegible].

In the weeks from the middle of November to the present day the automobile industry [illegible] faced and conquered a task as huge in many of its aspects, as was our work of equipping the fighting fronts with the instruments that brought success to our armies. That is, we have made ready for peace time production and have switched our plants from war work to a schedule of regular production.

I question right now if there is another predominant industry in the country that has grasped the task of reconstruction and readjustment within itself and accomplished it as our industry has.

We had some time to prepare ourselves for war production but for the second task we had none. What [illegible] you amounted to can best be grasped by citing the fact that right now this country is short from 500,000 to 750,000 automobiles—cars which would have been made and readily taken [illegible] American buyers had war not interrupted everything.

[illegible] just at the beginning of Winter it was possible for the factories to keep up with dealer demands during the succeeding two months after the armistice, although we know that a great demand for motor cars was just under the surface of general conditions, ready to burst into action when the public has had a few weeks in which to recover its poise.

The great demand is now [illegible]. From an almost [illegible] now edge of what lies ahead of us [illegible] few [illegible] and during the next few years [illegible] this show [illegible] week will see the greatest degree of interest that these events have ever known.

Lexington, March 17.—Arrangements have been completed by the Lexington branch of the Concord Chapter of the American Red Cross to assist men returning from war service in this town to obtain the $60 war bonus. Men are requested [illegible] discharge paper with [illegible] certified copies [illegible].

Clinton, March 17.—When members of the Runaway Brook Golf Club visited the club house in Bolton they discovered it had been burglarized the past week. AUTO'S FUTURE BRIGHT, SAYS DANIELS

Motors Are National Necessity; Domestic and Foreign Buyers Increasing, He Declares

By H. S. DANIELS

(Dort Motor Car Company).

When the first "horseless carriage" appeared we looked it over curiously, nudged each other knowingly, made jocular remarks and went about our business wondering what "those crazy inventors" would do next.

Thus began the evolution of what is today our third greatest industry. From the "freak" stage the automobile developed into a "rich man's plaything." Finally, after many vicissitudes, we were forced to recognize it as a "possible" commercial [illegible].

From a possibility to a probability [illegible] to a certainty—the automobile [illegible] arrived at its proper position in the scheme of things. And [illegible] is an exalted one. The automobile today is so effective a [illegible] progress and happiness [illegible] that it is every family's [illegible] ambition to possess one.

5,000,000 AUTOS IN U. S.

[illegible] production [illegible] by [illegible] and bounds until today there are more than 5,000,000 automobiles in the United States alone. [illegible] additional [illegible] proved in every avenue of industry to save time and widen zones of trade. They have brought fresh air [illegible] the wonders of the [illegible] bridging distances [illegible] fellowship [illegible] in brief is the past and present of the automobile.

What then of its future? We hear [illegible] of the approach of the so-called "saturation" period, a time when so many cars will have been [illegible]. [illegible] interested in the welfare of the [illegible] I have [illegible] seen there [illegible] thorough [illegible].

INDUSTRY STILL YOUNG.

[illegible] the more we reflect [illegible] analyze [illegible] that the building of cars [illegible] infant industry.

[illegible] will contrive to own one as long as [illegible] the price. That means [illegible] figures that more than [illegible] this year [illegible] average [illegible] life of no more than [illegible] years.

Add to these [illegible] a car for the first time and then the foreign demand which shows every [illegible] of a wonderful expansion. The [illegible] seas and South America [illegible] cars [illegible] going to be [illegible] commercial [illegible] trade experts predict and so we [illegible].

The future of the automobile is something for succeeding generations to worry about—it [illegible] pessimist who will say today that [illegible] is anything but rosy.

MOTOR TRUCKS TO BE SOLD RAPIDLY

C. W. Nash Gives Views on Truck Sales in the Future

"The new field which has opened for the motor truck is so large that it is difficult for anyone to comprehend its full magnitude," says C. W. Nash, president of Nash Motors Company. "The events of the last two years have brought the truck as a means of commercial transportation to a point which might have taken years in ordinary times to accomplish. For the old adage that necessity is the mother of invention has worked out perfectly in the case of trucks.

COVER WIDE FIELD.

"If you will consider for a moment the situation of this country when government demands practically usurped the railroad facilities, you will see what I mean. The nation [illegible] to look for a new way to deliver goods, especially over the shorter haul. True, the motor truck has been used for intra-city work, and there had been some suburban trucking, but the greater bulk of the shippers had as yet found no pressing reason to take up motor trucks. When [illegible] they had to [illegible] trucks or do without. We as truck builders knew what the result would be in advance, but even we had no thought of some of the business uses to which the motor truck was to be put.

"The situation opened the eyes of everyone to new and greater possible uses for motor trucks. And more than that, it demonstrated the use of motor trucks in a practical way. The motor truck arrived on the scene to help business out of its difficulties and it is going to stay on the job.

FORCED TO MOTORIZE.

"There are many firms in this country who probably would not have a single motor truck today if necessity had not forced them to motorize their transportation. Now having found by experience the benefits of motor transportation they will not again be without. Instead they are planning [illegible] particular class of firms or style of truck work will be affected by this new development. Every business [illegible] trucks, of whatever particular type is best suited to [illegible].

Moreover many firms who were not so situated that motor trucks were essential during the war are going to find them essential now. Competition will determine that.

"I need not say anything about the work which motor trucks did on the other side, for we all know their record there. We know what they did for the Allies at Chateau Thierry in a spectacular way and we know that the motor truck made modern warfare possible, and that it permitted us to place a mammoth army in the field, and maintain it properly. We are indeed proud of the splendid record made by our own Nash Quad. What the motor truck meant to the army in my opinion, it means to the commercial business. For the army is really a huge business with [illegible] transportation problems [illegible] different in essentials than in any other business.

PREDICT BIG GAINS.

"The next few years, I believe, will see bigger gains in the truck industry and in the use of trucks than have ever before been seen. I believe that with it will come improved roads and better facilities for using motor trucks to their full value. Moreover, I think we, who are builders of trucks, already are prepared to meet the demand, prepared by years of manufacturing experience which have made the motor truck what it is today—a vital part of our national transportation system."

DAINTIES FOR WOUNDED MEN AT DEVENS

By THOMAS F. PHELAN

Camp Devens, Ayer, March 17.—Under the direction of the Knights of Columbus twenty-five young women from St. Mary's Church, Ayer, today went through the surgical and convalescent wards at the Base Hospital and presented to each soldier a box of delicacies. A quartette sang patriotic airs for the men who expressed their appreciation of the kindness of the visitors.

The undertaking was financed by the Rev. Thomas P. M[illegible], pastor of St. Mary's Church, Ayer. Mrs. Leon D. Sullivan of Ayer headed the women's committee in charge of the affair.

PETTY THIEVING RAMPANT.

That petty thievery is still going on [illegible] became known today when agents of the Department of Justice began a [illegible] search for a number of soldiers who, it is alleged, have been [illegible] barracks in the [illegible] Brigade and [illegible] appropriating government property.

Car No. 515 of the Motor Transport Corps, which was taken from in front of the Ayer depot by a man wearing [illegible] uniform [illegible]. It is understood that the officer [illegible] to be connected with the Supply Department, borrowed the machine to go to Springfield and remain there over night. He may be courtmartialed under authority of the ninety-sixth article of war.

When the machine was returned by the officer, the [illegible] authorities with the result that when the car was driven to Boston by a private on government business the private was arrested and held there until the camp officials had him released.

From a camp official today it was learned that the government deems it inadvisable to reopen the camp exchanges when the 26th Division arrives here.

Officials at the Enlisted Men's Club are holding a number of letters for these men: Privates [illegible] Kalshaby, Peter Guarino, Paul Stepanian, Frank McFarthan, Leroy D. Cushman, Frank M. [illegible], Joe Shapiro and Howard Reed.

All wounded soldiers who wish a cane can have one by calling on the director of the Soldiers' Club.

Legal papers may be served on Private [illegible] Newbury, Development Battalion, Depot Brigade, a prisoner at the Base Hospital, by Attorney Leonard G. Roberts of Boston who seeks to have his marriage to Miss Marie Doyle of No. 13 Grenville street, Roxbury, annulled on the grounds that he has another wife living.

LEVER ALIGNS HIMSELF WITH ANTI-CLARK FORCES

Washington, March 17.—The "reorganization" Democrats of the house who are striving to prevent Champ Clark from becoming the minority leader gave out a statement in which Representative Asbury F. Lever of South Carolina aligns himself with the anti-Clark faction. Lever was the author of the "food control and wheat guarantee bills" in the last Congress and chairman of the Committee on Agriculture.

New British Warship Twice Size Largest U. S. Battleship

By Universal Service.

Special Wireless Dispatch.

London, March 17.—In line with the growing competition in battleship building between Britain and America, the naval expert of the Daily Express today declares that the new British "mystery" battleship, now building, will be 900 feet long, or twice as long as the American battleship New Mexico, and will have a speed of thirty-two knots, as compared to the New Mexico's twenty-one.

The new warship will be equipped with the latest wartime inventions, including protection from mines and torpedoes. Her displacement will be greater by some thousands of tons than that of any warship of any other nation. She will be launched within six months.

TWO HURT WHEN AUTO IS STRUCK BY TROLLEY

Mr. and Mrs. David Silverman were [illegible] about the face and hands when the automobile [illegible] besides themselves [illegible] four children and chauffeur, collided with an inbound trolley car at the junction of Main street and the boulevard at Everett. ZONE PLAN IS ABANDONED BY 'L' TRUSTEES

The idea of a zone system has been given up, for the present at least, by the Boston Elevated, according to a statement made by the trustees. The plan may be abandoned altogether because of the opposition developed in various localities, and for other [illegible]. The statement:

"The trustees of the Boston Elevated Railway Company have decided to defer the trial of the zone system for the following reasons:

"First, [illegible] believe that the 8-cent fare, collected as far as possible by the use of tokens, should be given a further trial.

"Second, because there is now pending before the Legislature a bill which proposes to amend the law so that the trustees cannot adopt the zone system.

"Third, there is also pending before the Legislature the bill proposed by Senator John J. Walsh, which provides for a return to the five-cent flat fare, the amount of the deficit to be raised in the general tax levy in the districts served by the company, and in connection with which bill the Supreme Court is asked to determine the constitutionality of the act under which the trustees are operating.

"Fourth, the operating changes necessary to give the zone system a trial would involve a large expenditure of money, and it is obviously improper for the trustees to spend this money while such legislation is pending.

"Fifth, if the zone system is to be tried [illegible] should be made under the most favorable circumstances and the trustees are advised by Professor A. S. Richey that a zone system can be given a fairer trial during the Summer months."

U. S. to Dominate Air If League Fails to Go Through

Washington, March 17.—Should the proposed League of Nations fail, the United States is prepared to commission fleets of lighter-than-air machines that will dominate the air. The new types of dirigibles will be able to attack any ships approaching America's coast lines and will constitute the most powerful naval auxiliary man has ever devised.

The magnitude of strength of the new weapon of warfare was revealed by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt, who gave consent to publication of hitherto closely guarded secrets relative to the strides made in the manufacture of "argon," the "helium gas," which is being manufactured from natural gas and which is non-inflammable.

In pointing out the immense value of the new dirigibles, Assistant Secretary Roosevelt said:

"Since helium is non-inflammable, an observation or dirigible balloon filled with it cannot be destroyed by incendiary bullets. The only effective method of attack would be by driving an airplane bodily through the great gas bag. But the giant airship would be equipped with batteries sufficient to repel airplane attacks. Thus only a well placed and well timed explosive could destroy the airship."

"The Driver Under the Hood"

The Most Careful Driver in the World At Your Service

Every truck owner knows that one of the most serious problems of truck operation is securing careful, experienced drivers.

A careless, ignorant driver can soon ruin the finest built truck in the world.

Tests have proven that the cost of operating a truck driven by a careless man, are often double the amount spent when an experienced driver handles the same truck.

Clydesdale engineers have solved the problem by a wonderful mechanical device—The Clydesdale Automatic Controller, Clydesdale users call it "The Driver Under the Hood."

It watches the motor every instant, with all the care of the most experienced driver, automatically opening and closing the throttle to keep the speed constant as different conditions of road and load are met, such as hills, down grades, mud, sand and traffic.

The motor cannot race—it cannot be injured by sudden acceleration. "The Driver Under the Hood" protects every moving part of the truck against abuse and careless handling. It saves gas, saves bearings, universals, axles, tires.

It literally saves hundreds of dollars a year for every Clydesdale owner.

Demonstrated all this week at the Clydesdale Truck Show—Held at our salesroom from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M. daily.

Henderson busses will run half-hourly from Mechanics Building to our salesrooms.

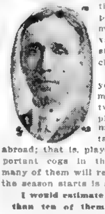
LOOK OUT FOR UPSETS, WARNS FULLERTON

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.

The teams of the major leagues slowly are commencing to show some form and to fill out the blank positions, so that it is possible to commence to figure vaguely on the strength of the clubs.



There are, as yet, according to my books, thirty-two major league players still remaining in military service abroad; that is, players who are important cogs in the teams. How many of them will reach home before the season starts is a problem.

I would estimate that not more than ten of them will be here for the opening game, and that depends upon their immediate return.

The Chicago Cubs and Boston Braves have been fortunate in securing the releases of Alexander and Gowdy, both of whom are reported en route.

If they manage to secure a place on one of the early transports and escape the delay at ports of embarkation, both probably will be able to be with their teams during part of the training season, and should be in shape within a short time after the season starts.

Estimating from the rather vague and uncertain line ups now at hand we are going to have some new pennant possibilities this season.

The chief interest just now is turned toward Philadelphia where that master builder of ball clubs Connie Mack, is manufacturing the framework of another dangerous ball club.

The Red Sox, strong as they are, and the reunited White Sox and the walloping Yankees have new layouts to worry about.

Then there is Cleveland, which is being remade from old, Boston Red Sox material into a more formidable crew than ever.

TWO AND THREE

PUTTING THE NEXT ONE OVER WITH "BUGS" BAER..

LIFE on the farm has changed a lot since Hector was the only one saved of a large litter. The old-fashioned farmer, who would only milk his cows during a rainstorm, now has a son who deals out eggs eleven to a dozen. The world is all safe for democracy and things, but we notice that country boarding house still keeps a heavy chain on the comb and brush. Maw is powdering her elbows, which used to be all red from playing the Soap Sud Sonata on the scrubbing board, and spends the days making ball gowns out of burlap.

A BIG change has come over the main stem of the country centre. The hicks no longer exchange their farm produce for booze of the realm. The crossroads tavern is drier than a covered bridge. The farmhand who used to rattle out of town on Tuesday carrying his Sunday shoes in one hand and a bottle of bottled in bond headache oil in the other, now sticks around the farm. When a creek goes dry, the frogs jump out and the hoptoads pop in. And there ain't anything in the old village tavern except hoptoads. The old joy powders are gone and the old bar fiddler's job is coo-coo like last year's crop of buttercups. Nobody ever dances around a pump.

INSTEAD of putting an edge on the old axe, they now use a grindstone to sharpen up graphophone needles.

But the biggest change has come over old Dobbin and the chaise. Old Dob has sprouted headlights instead of eyes and eats gasoline where once he chewed the nimble oat. He gets stripped gears instead of spavins. And punctures in place of the heaves. The one-horsepower chaise is now pulled by forty at the fewest. They may call 'em hicks, but we notice that every farmr owns at least three autos that won't work and two that will. Any time he wants a new limousine he cables his brokers and floods the market with a pound of butter.

YOU may chirp that the farmer lives in a rut, but that shows he is a wise-cracking bird. When a farmer gets in a rut he stays there, because a rut is the only smooth place on a country road. The hick has to kick in with 30 cents for a gallon of gasoline. But he gets a gallon, and it's gasoline.

He squares the tournament by selling a quart of milk to the bird who took him for the gallon of gas. The juice he bought was a gallon, and it was gasoline. The extract he sells is milk. And it's a quart. But it's never both at the same time. The hand is quicker than the eye, and the pump handle has 'em both skinned.

THERE are fewer pedestrians in the outlying counties today than there are kicks in Beevo. All the inhabitants of the sticks gyrate around the works in stem-winding flivvers. They spend their matinees picking hayseed out of their richly upholstered, sixteen-valve, collapsible coupes. And when the pink rays of the setting sun rouge the little gray limousine in the West, the ruralite buttons his beaver brown landaulet up around his ears and aims his platinum-rimmed spectacles at the catalogs from the Motor Show in Mechanics building.

HE soaks up an eyeful about the latest four-layered, bevel-edged, mansard-roofed, victoria-topped cabriolet that won the upholstery endurance test of 1918. He inhales the bunk about the Souper-Sicks underslung car with the overslung chatter from the bird who wrote the ad. He gets both ears clogged with the oil about the Venetian gondola type of boulevard blocker car that has busted all the garage records in both hemispheres this year and expects to take in more territory next season. Can you beat it? You cannot.

Which is about the only spot where the suburber hasn't got the edge on us asphalt two-steppers. We have to read that stuff too. It is also the only spot where country life hasn't changed much since Columbus discovered that three beat two pair.

THERE ain't much difference between getting chased by a bull in the field or by the bull in a catalog. You said it.

But after John Farmer has read all the music in the catalog, he motors out to the hen garage and trades one dozen door knobs for the same number of eggs. He adds a few cents more that he has earned honestly, and sends for a multiple cranking car, with a side door entrance that won't be of any use after the U. S. goes dry, and an exit through the windshield.

Which is the difference between the city and the sticks.

A farmer reads the catalog and buys.

While—well, we read the darned things anyway.

HAINES TO MAKE TWO SHIFTS IN 1922 CREW

Coach Bill Haines intended to make two shifts in the Harvard freshman crew this afternoon when the first and second crafts got onto the river.

Brown, formerly of Middlesex School who has been stroking crew A, has exchanged seats with Malcolm Bradlee, former Country Day sweep, who has been rowing at No. 4. Alexander Terry, No. 7, and Winsor Garland, No. 5, also exchanged posts.

Word was sent to Annapolis today stating that Harvard will send only its varsity there April 19 for a triangular race with Princeton and the Middies. The expense of taking a freshman and second eight was considered too great.

The Harvard crew will take its own shell to the Severn, using the sectional boat built by Ward two years ago. It is divided in three parts and especially suitable for railroad shipment.

TED LEWIS AND JACK BRITTON IN TITLE GO

Canton, O., March 17.—Ted (Kid) Lewis, world's welterweight champion and Jack Britton, America's best in the division, will battle fifteen rounds to a decision here tonight.

Britton has been credited with a couple of newspaper verdicts over Lewis since he lost the championship to the Britisher and is confident he will regain it.

Even Lewis has been made to look like an amateur when Jack's left has been working right. And Britton says it was never shooting as fast and accurately as now.

As Jack also packs a stiff punch in his right mitt, and is cooler than Lewis when in action, it would not surprise boxing experts if Uncle Sam were presented with another ring championship.

HEADING SOUTH ARE BRAVES; 8 IN PARTY

Baltimore, March 17.—Next stop Washington! There Walter Hoke [illegible] Braves' new first-baseman [illegible] with the clan of John McGraw the past two playing seasons and [illegible] were down to [illegible] Business Manager [illegible] is [illegible] going to the Columbus, Ga., training camp.

Five of the players and three of them newcomers, faced on to the abbreviated party at New York at [illegible] night [illegible] Boston the squad embraced Hapgood, Scott, Jack Sattie and Hughie Canavan, former Worcester lefthander, who has been sold to Memphis. Little Hugh will join the Mud-Hens after the tribe winds up its stay at the camp.

RUDOLPH WITH TOURISTS.

The additions picked up at New York were Dick Rudolph, veteral right-hander; Hugh McQuillan, another ex-Worcester southpaw who has already shown at the Wigwam; Ray Keating, who filled several engagements with the New York Yankees prior to working for Roger Bresnahan at Toledo the past two campaigns, Lena Blackburne, well known infielder, who came [illegible] Cincinnati in exchange for [illegible] Rehg and Chick Mecham, [illegible] University flash.

Blackburne, whom Manager Stallings intends using on the third [illegible] ner in the event [illegible] second [illegible] this year, seems more happy over his acquisition by the Braves.

He's long yearned to operate at third sack, liking it far better than the short field position, and even if Smith [illegible] coming in beating [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] for pinch [illegible] work.

Holke wintered at Scott [illegible] Pa. He worked in the steel works and is already right down to playing weight.

HERZOG COMING LATER.

President Grant has given Buck Herzog permission to wait until Wednesday on Thursday before heading South. The rumor will not down but that Buck is trying to make a deal with the Yankees, and Grant [illegible] be safely said, won't object if he pulls it off.

The infield holdouts aside from Smith are Al Wickland, Bunny Hearn and Ed Konetchy.

Baseball News and Notes

Three of the game's best shortstops are members of the Hold-Out Club, to wit: Donie Bush, Charley Herzog(?) and Dave Bancroft.

George Wiltse, Johnny McGraw's old hard-to-beat southpaw, is to coach the Lafayette College baseball squad this Spring.

Clark Griffith has shipped his battery candidates to the Augusta training camp. The Old Fox departs with his regulars Friday.

Charley Ebbets has picked up a rookie infielder named Nagle for the Dodgers. He hit .340 for Winnipeg in the Northern League two seasons ago and is regarded as a star. Nagle was recently mustered out of the aviation service.

Francesco Pizzola, alias Ping Bodie, wishes to tell the world that he's through with shipyards. [illegible] separated himself from this thriving industry a few days ago and is waiting for the call from Miller Huggins to hop aboard the trailer headed for Jacksonville. Francesco also wishes it understood he's still the same steady swatter, also sprinter, as in years past.

At [illegible] tomorrow [illegible] will board a boat for Jacksonville, Fla., where they are [illegible] to [illegible] upon the well known scenery Friday morning.

Of course Manager Barrow [illegible] other [illegible] ship [illegible] He [illegible] today. [illegible] which proves that [illegible] Red Sox [illegible] ous season [illegible]

As the Red Sox party [illegible] their [illegible] Palm Beach [illegible] getting [illegible] straw lids and bathing outfits [illegible] of the men who played prominent parts [illegible] world's [illegible] last year [illegible] are [illegible] kindness [illegible]

THERE'S SIX HOLDOUTS.

They are Babe Ruth, Carl Mays, Joe Bush, Wallie Schang, Amos Strunk and Dave Shean.

Without the services of these men the Red Sox have as much chance of winning the pennant as the Prussian guard had of getting a decision over the boys of the [illegible] Division.

It is not [illegible] that if Harrison Frazee, Red Sox owner, [illegible] [illegible] Bush, Schang, Strunk and Shean as [illegible] disagreements over [illegible] [illegible] are not great. But with Mays and Ruth it is another story.

With Dutch Leonard and Ernie Shore traded to the Yankees, Babe and Carl are in one of those well known strategic positions.

The Red Sox must have pitchers if they are to [illegible] pennant chase. And Mays and Ruth know this. They know [illegible] the same as Ray Collins and Hugh Bedient did five years ago when they insisted that Joe Lannin give them [illegible] yearly [illegible] after Joe Wood was put out of commission by appendicitis.

Mays is said to have asked for a fair increase and it is believed Frazee will meet him half-way.

BABE IS STANDING PAT.

Ruth, however, wants $15,000. And the contract sent to him by the Red Sox calls for [illegible]. Babe says he can earn more than [illegible] a year ascending fighters and swinging towels in the corners of some of our ambitious one punch youths.

Ruth rightfully claims he was about the whole Red Sox show last year. There is no denying he was the biggest attraction in the 1918 campaign. He is worth all the money he can get, and, according to the big fellow, it will be $15,000 or no baseball in a Red Sox uniform in 1919.

Maybe when Ruth and Frazee get down to cases they will be able to sign some kind of an armistice. Batting Babe may give a little ground and agree to knock the slats out of the outfield fences for $14,999 or so.

Let's go, James. Yes, they have lovely orange groves in Florida! Oh boy.

HARVARD WANTS HAUGHTON; CAN NAME PRICE

There's a dark man looking for Major Percy D. Haughton with a "bundle." He reckons that when he catches up with the famous Harvard football coach, there will be something doing.

The dark man is Fred W. Moore, late of the U. S. A. The major carries a brief from the Harvard Athletic Committee, and in his "bundle" a bankroll that would make the ordinary man independent for quite a time.

A swish of the pen and the dark man will be lighter to the extent of several thousand and Harvard football will get in exchange a master mind for 1919.

Mr. Haughton also late of the U. S. A. has a firm friend and ardent disciple in Mike Farley likewise late of the expeditionary forces. So when Major Farley told Major Moore that he thought Major Haughton might discuss a proper business arrangement for his football services the Harvard graduate treasurer tapped the old office safe and got on the trail of his man.

Mr. Haughton's figures as Harvard's football coach for the period of three years ending in 1915 is said to have been $30,000. His last year he is also said to have received $10,000.

NEW BIFF CLUB SHOWS EAGAN AND SMITH

Ringside picks Joe Eagan to defeat Jeff Smith.

By RINGSIDE.

The Fenway A. A. will make its debut at the Park Riding School tonight with Joe Eagan, Boston middleweight, carded to swap punches with Jeff Smith of Bayonne, N. J., in a twelve round frolic. The new club gets the [illegible] of the [illegible] tral A. C., which has been cast into the pugilistic scrap heap.

Eagan and Smith should furnish a torrid [illegible]. Unless the dope gets a severe setback, Eagan's skill and speed will enable him to flash by the wire a winner. Joe possesses plenty of boxing class, as he proved recently when he outstepped Fred Dyer at the Armory A. A.

Smith, however, advances the information that [illegible] hit [illegible] as hard as Mike O'Dowd did one night at the Arena a couple of years back and that Joe will do a [illegible] upset.

There will be an eight-round semi-final and the usual two six-rounders.

At the Armory A. A. tomorrow night there will be an all-star card. Eddie Fitzsimmons, who made a big hit by defeating Paul Doyle, will clash with Shaver O'Brien in a twelve-round number while Johnny Clinton will swap punches with Louis Bogash over the same route. Both tussles should furnish plenty of thrills for those fans who delight in witnessing real fighting.

THE DARK STAR

A Thrilling Romance of an American Girl

By ROBERT W. CHAMBERS

One of the Latest and Most Heart-Stirring Novels From the Pen of This Celebrated Author

FIRST INSTALMENT IN YESTERDAY'S BOSTON ADVERTISER AND AMERICAN

AFTER a time she turned to the remaining treasures in the wonder box. These consisted of several volumes containing photographs, others full of sketches in pencil and water-color, and a thick roll of glazed linen scrolls, covered with designs in India ink.

The photographs were of all sorts—landscapes, rivers, ships in dock, dry dock, and at sea; lighthouses, forts, horses carrying soldiers armed with lances and wearing the red fez; artillery on the march, infantry, groups of officers, all wearing the same sort of fez which lay there in Herr Wilner's box of olive wood.

There were drawings, too—sketches of cannon, of rifles, of swords; drawings of soldiers in various gay uniforms, all carefully colored by hand. There were pictures of ships, from the sterns of which the crescent flag floated lazily; sketches of great, ugly-looking objects which her father explained were Turkish ironclads. The name "ironclad" always sounded menacing and formidable to the child, and the forbidding pictures fascinated her.

Then there were scores and scores of scrolls made out of slippery white linen on which had been drawn all sorts of most amazing geometrical designs in ink.

"Plans," her father explained vaguely. And, when pressed by reiterated questions: "Plans for military works, I believe—forts, docks, barracks, fortified cuts and bridges. You are not yet quite old enough to understand, Ruhannah."

"Who did draw them, daddy?"

"A German friend of mine, Herr Conrad Wilner."

"What for?"

"I think his master sent him to Turkey to make those pictures."

"For the Sultan?"

"No; for his Emperor."

"Why?"

"I don't exactly know, Rue."

At this stage of the conversation her father usually laid aside his book and composed himself for the inevitable narrative soon to be demanded of him.

Then, although having heard the story many times from her crippled father's lips, but never weary of the repetition, the child's eyes would grow round and very solemn in preparation for her next and inevitable question:

"And did Herr Wilner die, daddy?"

"Yes, dear."

"Tell me!"

"Well, it was when I was a missionary in the Trebizond district, and your mother and I went——"

"And me, daddy? And me, too!"

"Yes; you were a little baby in arms. And we all went to Gallipoli to attend the opening of a beautiful new school which was built for little Mohammedan converts to Christianity——"

"Did I see those little [illegible] children, daddy?"

"Yes, you saw them. But you are too young to remember."

"Tell me. Don't stop!"

Tells the Story

"Then listen attentively without interrupting, Rue. Your mother and you and I went to Gallipoli, and my friend, Herr Wilner, who had been staying with us at a town called Tchardak, came along with us to attend the opening of the American school.

"And the night we arrived there was trouble. The Turkish people, urged on by some bad officials in the Sanjak, came with guns and swords and spears and set fire to the mission school.

"They did not offer to harm us. We had already collected our converts and our personal baggage. Our caravan was starting. The mob might not have done anything worse than burn the school if Herr Wilner had not lost his temper and threatened them with a dog whip. Then they killed him with stones, there in the walled yard."

At this point in the tragedy, the eagerly awaited and ardently desired shivers passed up and down the child's back.

"O—oh! Did they kill him dead?"

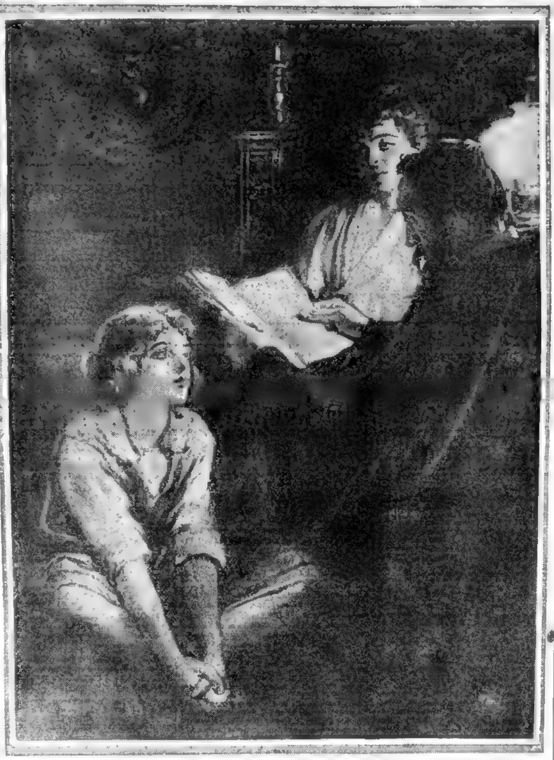
"Yes, dear."

"Was he a martyr?"

"In a way he was a martyr to his duty, I suppose. At least I gather so from his diary and from what he once told me of his life."

"And then what happened? Tell me, daddy."

"A Greek steamer took us and our baggage to Trebizond."



"A strange and tragic affair last night"

"And what then?"

"And then, a year later, the terrible massacre at our Trebizond mission occurred——"

That was what the child was waiting for.

"I know!" she interrupted eagerly. "The wicked Turks and the cruel Kurds did come galloping and shouting 'Allah!' And all the poor, converted people became martyrs. And God loves martyrs, doesn't He?"

"Yes, dear——"

"And then they did kill all the poor little Christian children!" exclaimed the child excitedly. "And they did cut you with swords and guns! And then the kind sailors with the American flag took you and mamma and me to a ship and saved us by the grace of our Lord Jesus!"

"Yes, dear——"

"Tell me!"

"That is all——"

"No; you walk on two crutches, and you cannot be a missionary [illegible] Tell me, daddy!"

"Yes. And that is all, Rue——"

"Oh, no! Please! Tell me! . . And then, don't you remember how the brave British sailors and our brave American sailors pointed their cannon at the ironclads, and they said 'Do not shoot or we shall shoot you to pieces.' And then the brave American sailors went on shore and brought back some poor little wounded converted children, and your baggage and the magic box of Herr Wilner!"

Reads Diary

"Yes, dear. And now that is enough tonight——"

"Oh, daddy, you must first read in the di-a-ry which Herr Wilner made."

"Bring me the book, Rue."

With an interest forever new, the Carew family prepared to listen to the words written by a strange man who had died only a few moments after he had made the last entry in the book—before even the ink was entirely dry on the pages.

The child, sitting cross-legged on the floor, clasped her little hands tightly; her mother laid aside her sewing, folded it and placed it in her lap; her father searched through the pencilled translation which he had written in between the lines of German script, found where he had left off the time before, then continued the diary of Herr Conrad Wilner, deceased.

March 3.—My original plans have been sent to the Yildiz Palace. My duplicates are to go to Berlin when a messenger from our Embassy arrives. Murad Bey knows this. I am sorry he knows it. But nobody except myself is aware that I have a third set of plans carefully hidden.

March 4.—All day with Murad's men setting wire entanglements under water, two Turkish destroyers patrolling the entrance of the bay, and cavalry patrols on the heights to warn away the curious.

March 6.—Forts Alamout and Shah Abbas are being reconstructed from the new plans. Wired areas under water and along the coves and shoals are being plotted. Murad Bey is unusually polite and effusive, conversing with me in German and French. A spidery man and very dangerous.

March 7.—A strange and tragic affair last night. The heat being severe, I left my tent about midnight and went down to the dock where my little sailboat lay, with the object of cooling myself on the water. There was a hot land breeze, I sailed out into the bay and cruised north along the coves which I have wired. As I rounded a little rocky point I was surprised to see in the moonlight, very near, a steam yacht at anchor, carrying no lights. The longer I looked at her the more certain I became that I was gazing at the imperial yacht. I had no idea what the yacht might be doing here. I ran my sailboat close under the overhanging rocks and anchored. Then I saw a small boat, in the moonlight, pulling from the yacht toward shore where the crescent cove had already been thoroughly staked at the bottom and closely covered with barbed wire as far as the edge of the deep channel which curves in here like a scimitar.

It must have been that the people in the boat miscalculated the location of the channel, for they were well over the sunken barbed wire when they lifted and threw overboard what they had come there to get rid of—two dark bulks that splashed.

I watched the boat pull back to the imperial yacht. A little later the yacht weighed anchor and steamed northward, burning no lights. Only the red reflection tinging the smoke from her stacks was visible. I watched her until she was lost in the moonlight, thinking all the while of those weighted sacks so often dropped overboard along the Bosporus and off Seraglio Point from that same imperial yacht.

When the steamer had disappeared, I got out my sweeps and rowed for the place where the dark objects had been dropped overboard. I knew that they must be resting somewhere on the closely criss-crossed mesh of wires just below the surface of the water; but I probed for an hour before I located anything. Another hour passed in trying to hook into the object with the little three-fluked grapnel which I used as an anchor. I got hold of something finally; a heavy chest of olive wood bound with metal, but I had to rig a tackle before I could hoist it aboard.

A Novel Dance

The word "ball," as applied to a dancing party, came to be used in the first instance from an ancient "ball play" given in church by the dean and choir boys of Naples during the Feast of Fools at Easter. At subsequent dancing-parties in Naples the dancers threw a ball at one another to the sound of their own singing. They whirled about in measured time, and the sport consisted in loosening hands in time to catch the ball.

The Heart Breaker

CHAPTER LI.

Copyright, 1919, Star Company

A DIM light was burning in the lower hall of the Bruce residence when Arthur fitted his key into the lock and admitted himself and his companion.

"Mother is up in the library," he said. "As soon as she knows you are coming, I will go and tell her you are here. Come along and wait in the hall until she hears the pleasant news."

He ran lightly upstairs and Honora followed more slowly. At the top of the stairs she stopped and stood waiting for Arthur to summon her into the large front room that served as library for the Bruce family.

The house was very still and the girl could not help overhearing Arthur's announcement that he had brought someone to stay with his mother tonight.

"Not another nurse!" was the dismayed exclamation.

"No, indeed, dear," Arthur said reassuringly. "I went around to the Brents to see if one of the girls could not come, and one of them [illegible]"

There was a short silence which impressed [illegible]. If Mrs. Bruce were pleased she would utter some quick expression of approval.

"It was a [illegible] thought on your part, dear son," the mother said at last reluctantly. "But I am sorry you did not [illegible]. Where is Mildred and your sister [illegible] down [illegible]"

"She is at home," was the [illegible] rejoinder. "Honora came—[illegible] Mildred."

"Oh, I am so glad."

The exclamation was [illegible] and too [illegible] to be misunderstood, and Honora appreciated that the change in the mother's tone was a fair index of the difference in her feeling towards the two Brent sisters.

The older girl felt suddenly guilty [illegible] it was Mildred, not she, who would be a daughter to this woman.

Arthur's reappearance checked further reflection. She must not let him suspect that she had overheard the conversation between his mother and himself.

Mrs. Bruce rose from her chair and stretched out her arms to Honora as she entered.

"Dear child!"—clasping the girl closely—"this is one of the loveliest things I ever had done for me! Yet it is an imposition upon your kindness. There is nobody else outside of my own family whom I would want with me at this anxious time. Are you sure," looking at Honora keenly, "that you can be spared from home? Mrs. Higgins and your sister do not mind?"

"Mrs. Higgins was asleep and Milly so tired that she went to bed as soon as I came out. She has had so little experience in trouble that she felt incapable of coming to you. Milly is very young for her age, you know," Honora added by way of explanation.

Removing her hat and coat, she urged Mrs. Bruce to lie down on the couch. Then seating herself by the anxious wife, she held her hand and talked soothingly and tactfully of Arnold Bruce's illness.

"Now that he has really given up and put himself in the hands of a doctor and nurse, he must get better," she ventured. "I always feel one is much safer when he a[illegible] gives in to an illness and allows himself to be nursed back to health."

"Since you have come," Mrs. Bruce confessed at the end of an hour, "I feel less frightened about Arnold. Arthur knows nothing of sickness, and I had nobody here who had had experience along such lines—except the nurse, of course. And she would only say what the doctor allowed her to say. Nurses are all alike in that way, you know."

Honora did not think it wise to inform the wife that she herself was almost as ignorant with regard to illness as Arthur was. Her reassuring remarks were not the outcome of experience, but the result of her ability to put herself in imagination in another person's place.

It was past midnight when Mrs. Bruce consented to go to bed.

"You must let me lend you a nightgown, and then you must go into the guest room and get a good night's sleep," the matron said.

Yet even as she spoke, Honora saw the look of anxiety and fear creeping into the tired eyes. This woman should not be left alone with her thoughts.

"Would it make you nervous if, instead of that, I borrow a wrapper from you and lie here on the couch?" the girl suggested.

The smile that illumined the older woman's pale features showed that Honora had been right in her suspicions.

"Oh, how lovely! Are you sure that you would not mind—that you would be comfortable?" Mrs. Bruce asked.

"Absolutely sure!" the girl declared. "I [illegible] love to be right here [illegible]."

She [illegible] donned a blanket-robe many sizes too large for her when [illegible] at the door.

"[illegible]," Mrs. Bruce called and Arthur entered and bending over his mother kissed her goodnight.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Anecdotes of the Famous

Admiral Sir David Beatty was in one of his happiest moods when addressing the American sailors on board the U. S. S. New York. "I hope," he said, "that in the sunshine which, Admiral Rodman tells me, always shines on your shores you will not forget your 'comrades of the mist' and your pleasant associations of the North Sea. This is a queer place, as you found, but you were not the first to find it out. There was a great explorer, Marco Polo, who, after traveling over the world thirty years, one day found himself in the North Sea, and then went home, went to bed and did not travel any more."

Those who know Rubinstein's "Erl King" will appreciate this story, related by Sir George Henschel in "Musings and Memories of a Musician." One day Rubinstein was playing the "Erl King" to Queen Victoria. She sat near the piano, but as the music grew louder and louder she moved her chair farther and farther away, with an expression on her face of real terror! Sir George tells another anecdote, this time not a musical one. A negro porter at a countryside station was asked if an express stopped there. "Stop?" exclaimed the porter. "It doesn't even hesitate!"

Just before leaving Washington in order to be present at the Versailles Conference, he attended a reception at a fashionable women's club.

Handsome matrons were to be seen on every side, but not one of them had gray hair. All were golden blondes.

A male friend pointed this out to House, at the same time expressing mild surprise.

"No need for wonder," said the gallant Colonel, his eyes twinkling. "You must understand that after forty women keep their hair light and their age dark."

For Constipation! Physic Purge or Laxative?

Everyone now and then becomes constipated, and millions are chronically in that condition. The perplexing question arises—what to use.

Purgatives and cathartics are drastic and usually cause a reaction. Saline waters are rapid in action but do no more than empty the bowels.

Just as certain an effect, and certainly a much more pleasant one, can be obtained by the use of a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold by druggists under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It acts gently, without griping. It is an especially ideal medicine for children, women, old people and others who find purges too powerful.

Only a teaspoonful is required, and by morning the movement is free and complete. A bottle in the house is insurance for the whole family against constipation, indigestion, headaches, flatulency and other digestive ills.

The druggist will refund your money if it fails to do as promised.

PRICE AS ALWAYS

In spite of greatly increased laboratory costs due to the War, by sacrificing profits and absorbing war taxes we have maintained the price at which this family laxative has been sold by druggists for the past 26 years. Two sizes—50c and $1.00.

STEEL MEN TO DISCUSS PRICE REDUCTION

Magnates Meet in Washington This Week to Discuss Plan of Secretary Redfield

The conference between a committee representing the American Iron and Steel Institute, including Judge Gary of the U. S. Steel Corporation, and Charles M. Schwab of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, and the Industrial Board of the Department of Commerce, will be held in Washington on Wednesday this week. The matter to be discussed is the reduction of steel prices. This is advocated by Secretary Redfield as a step of the utmost importance in starting the country's business toward post-war prosperity.

There is great uncertainty as to the outcome of the conference, but it is generally believed that it will result in price cutting by steel producers, and the Industrial Board has given assurances that it will seek reductions in all building materials commensurate with those sought in iron and steel, so that construction work can be started all over the country on a large scale. This will provide employment for many thousands of men who are now out of a job and benefit business in every line.

OILS ARE THE STRONGEST GROUP

Motors Rule Higher; Baldwin a Feature Among Equipments

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were still irregular in New York in the afternoon, but the tone had improved at midday and the price trend was upward later. Oils were the strongest group and motors ruled higher, General Motors being the exception. U. S. Steel was still showing a loss, having been weak from the beginning. Other steels were higher as a class. Baldwin was a feature among equipments. Coppers were in demand and advanced. Most attractive issues, in fact, showed gains. Trading was very active, first hour transactions totalling nearly 400,000. Subsequently business was on a million-share-day basis.

AFTERNOON GAINS AND LOSSES.

Gains in the afternoon included Mexican Petroleum 3½ at 188¾; Texas Co. 8 at 217, its highest for the year; Royal Dutch old 2 at 94¼, new 1⅝ at 90⅝; Pan American 1⅞ at 82⅜; Sinclair 4⅛ at 43⅞; Studebaker 1⅝ at 64½; Willy Overland 1⅞ at 29½; Inspiration 1⅛ at 46½; Anaconda ½ at 61; Utah ½ at 70⅛; Corn Products 1¼ at 52¾; Baldwin 2 at 89½; Virginia Carolina Chemical 1⅝ at 59⅞; American Cotton Oil 2⅞ at 47⅞; Agricultural Chemical ½ at 108; after selling at the record highest of 108⅝; Reading ½ at 84½ and New York Central ½ at 76.

Among declines were U. S. Steel, ⅝ at 96, after selling as low as 94¾; Marine preferred, ⅝ at 109½; General Motors, 1⅝ at 164¼; Distillers, ⅞ at 63¾; Central Leather, ½ at 73; American International, ⅞ at 70⅝, and Industrial Alcohol, 1 at 129½.

IRREGULAR AT NOON.

Irregularity ruled the market in New above the lowest level of the morning. Trading had been active. After an irregular opening the market weakened quickly and within a few minutes declines were the rule. At the outset oil issues were the feature, being the strongest and most active group. Sinclair sold at the highest price it has reached since listed on the New York Exchange. Mexican Petroleum, Royal Dutch issues, Texas Company and Pan-American advanced from more than one to more than five points. But most stocks had a narrow price range during the first hour. Among motors, Studebaker and Willys Overland were conspicuous for strength. At the end of the first hour there was a rallying tendency, and the market had a firmer tone in the second hour. American Agricultural Chemical sold at a highest record price on its first transaction. During the morning Willys Overland sold at its 1919 highest. Profit taking was extensive at the week-end and continued today. There is less investment demand for stocks. Stock market sentiment is more conservative than for several weeks. Reports from Paris regarding the peace conference increased this feeling.

STOCKS RULED LOWER HERE.

Like New York, the Boston market began irregular, but soon showed a tendency to recede. Massachusetts Electric issues were an active feature and advanced a little during the forenoon. Coppers were dormant. So far this year eighteen companies have either reduced or passed dividends, and copper shares are not in favor with speculators.

Gains in the local market included United Fruit 1 at 175, Swift 1½ at 128½, Stewart ¾ at 39¼. Massachusetts Electric preferred ⅛ at 6⅞, Copper Range ¾ at 40, Calumet & Arizona 1 at 58 and Booth Fisheries 1½ at 21½. Among declines were Calumet & Hecla 7 at 388, Quincy ½ at 54½, Boston Elevated, ex-dividend, ⅝ at 65⅞, and Massachusetts Gas 1 at 82½.

TRADERS TALKED BEARISH.

Most of the talk heard in trading circles when the market opened was bearish. The disposition on Saturday to change position was general, but there was doubt as to whether the public would flood the market over Sunday with buying orders, as they did a week ago. While there was some buying from this source at the opening, it was on a far smaller scale, and initial offerings about offset demand. At the start most of the business was in the specialties which were prominent last week. Trading in standard stocks was limited. Rails were quiet and coppers neglected. Corporation returns were generally disappointing. The report of American Smelting for 1918 was an instance, its consolidated net income showing a decrease of $10,788,126 compared with 1917. American International Corporation reported an increase of $1,016,153 in total earnings and a decrease of $272,893 in surplus after dividends. Studebaker, however, earned 10.38 per cent. on common stock last year, compared with 9.11 for 1917.

World's Cotton Supply

According to the Chronicle the world's visible supply of cotton is 5,457,313 bales, compared with 4,675,558 last year. The American supply is 3,811,313, compared with 3,423,558 a year ago.

Corporation Earnings

For 1918 surplus after taxes and charges of the Diamond Match Co. amounts to $2,058,627, which is equal to $12.13 per share on stock, compared to $2,504,862, or $14.76 a share for 1917.

Net earnings after taxes of $200,388 for Lee Tire & Rubber Co. for the last year are equivalent to $2 a share, compared with $22,588 net, or 22 cents a share for 1917.

The Submarine Boat Corporation reports net income after taxes for 1918 of $172,779, compared with $1,248,099 for the preceding year, while net income for last year of the Electric Boat Co. and subsidiaries was $568,525, compared with $2,080,038.

The 1918 surplus of the Chicago Pneumatic Tool Co. was $2,782,105. Its net profits for the year were $535,833.

Surplus of the United States Cast Iron Pipe & Foundry Co. for last year, after charges and taxes, was $1,109,036, compared with $1,824,140 in 1917, and equalled $12.24 a common share against $4.03 for 1917.

Net earnings of $1,513,765 for 1918 by the Chicago Junction Railways and Union Stock Yards Company equals $17.28 per share for common stock, after paying preferred dividends. Earnings on common in 1917 were $15.62; in 1916 they were $20.05.

The Columbia Gas & Electric Co.'s 1918 surplus equals $5.39 a share. It equalled $5.86 a share the year before.

A Public Service

UNDER Fuel Administration Regulations last year we were under no obligations to supply School-houses, Fire Dept. Houses, and other Public Buildings, as they had not been our customers. However, on request of the Fuel Committee we delivered them hundreds of tons of coal when they were unable to get it from their former sources of supply. This was clearly another instance of Metropolitan Service to the Public.

WOMEN GAINED WEIGHT ON FISH DIET

Twenty-one consecutive meals of fish and eager for more! Healthier, happier, weightier and better complexioned than ever, the six girls from "Take It From Me" at the Shubert Theatre, who have lived for a whole week on a fish diet, today expressed their willingness to continue the piscatorial experiment indefinitely.

Finishing their twenty-first meal with broiled live lobster served in the main dining room of the Copley-Plaza, the young women submitted to an examination by Dr. James B. Thornton of No. 168 Huntington avenue, under whose strict supervision the dieting had been conducted.

Dr. Thornton pronounced every one of the "Take It From Me" fish squad girls in perfect physical condition. Each of the girls put on weight during the week, gaining anywhere from one to four pounds in this short time.

ALL GAINED WEIGHT.

The following table drawn up by Dr. Thornton shows the weights of the six girls on Monday, Thursday and last night, when they were officially weighed by the physician:

	Wt. Mon.	Gain Lbs.	Wt. Thurs.	Wt. Sun.
Theresa Wardell	130	3	130	133
Estel White	105	2½	106½	107½
Maudie Clifton	123	4	125	127
Lucretia Craig	116	4	116	120
Alice Sawyer	110	1	111½	111
Belle Sawyer	107	1	107	108

Commenting on the case of the Sawyer sisters Dr. Thornton said: "Both of these young ladies actually gained more weight than is shown on my records. Saturday night Miss Belle Sawyer suffered from a very severe toothache, which prevented her from sleeping the greater part of the night, and was a severe nervous strain. Her sister sat up with her much of the night.

"This fact, in no way due to the young woman's diet, was the cause of their losing a little weight. It also was the only indisposition of any of the squad."

During the week the young women, although eating twenty-one meals of fish, did not eat the same variety twice. They proved absolutely the contention that fish may be substituted for meat every meal with beneficial effect. And they merely sampled a few of the many varieties of fish and the varied ways of preparing and cooking sea foods.

MANY VARIETIES CONSUMED.

Here are the fish they ate:

Haddock, cod, salt cod, whiting, Boston bluefish, mackerel, salt mackerel, raie or skate, squid, flounders or sole, lemon sole, halibut, salmon, herring, smelts shrimps, lobsters, oysters and finnan haddie.

Had arrangements been made to continue the experiment a second week here are some of the still untried varieties which would have enabled them to continue to eat a new fish every meal:

Grayfish, whitefish or hake, eels, euchalon, bowfin, salt water perch, redfish, weakfish, catfish, cusk, butterfish, swordfish, shad, clams, billfish, sturge and shark.

And this enumerates only some of the varieties to be found in local markets, although not all caught in these waters.

The first eighteen meals were eaten in the Chinese Gardens of the Shepard Stores, where the meals were prepared under the personal supervision of Manager Newak. As this restaurant is not open Sundays, arrangements were made to have the girls eat their final day's meal at the Cop[illegible] Plaza. In both restaurants the [illegible]et squad" attracted much inter[illegible]

[illegible]day's fish menu consisted of fri[illegible] squid for breakfast, crab flakes for luncheon and broiled live lobster for dinner. Squid, which the "Take It From Me" girls ate for breakfast, is a favorite dish among the foreign populations, although little appreciated by Americans as yet. It is a small variety of the devil fish.

The young women pronounced squid one of the most tasty fish they had eaten. Its flavor resembles that of fried chicken. For dinner Saturday night the girls enjoyed raie au beurre noir, known in American markets as skate. This is another fish which is a prime favorite in Europe although seldom eaten here.

Today Dr. Thornton said that the test had proved the American's contention that fish should be eaten more frequently.

"I venture to say that had these same young women been on a meat instead of on a fish diet for this length of time, eaten meat three times a day, they would all now be in hospitals," he said. "It must be remembered that these young women from 'Take It From Me' use both their heads and their limbs. Theirs is both mental and physical labor. Yet their digestive system is not overstrong and would react quicker than that of a strong man. Meat is a tax on the digestive system.

"These girls have not only gained weight. Their complexions have improved. Their cheeks are now rosy, their eyes sparkling. Examination shows that their digestive organs are in perfect running order. Their general health is excellent.

FISH DIET INDEFINITELY.

"I feel satisfied they might go living on fish indefinitely with only the most excellent results. They gained appetite as the experiment progressed. As a physician I pronounce them in much better condition in every way today than they were at the beginning of the test last Monday."

As they finished their last official meal on the diet squad each of the girls gave their solemn word that they had adhered faithfully to the terms of the test. They had eaten nothing except what they ate at the prescribed meals.

And the verdict of the six was "We are willing to go on eating fish every meal—take it from me."

PROFITEERS HIT BY SUCCESS OF FISH MARTS

frozen fish is equally as good, and often better, than the so-called "freshly caught" fish offered for sale.

They call attention to the fact that frozen fish is encased in an airtight envelope of ice as soon as it leaves the water, while much of the so-called "freshly caught" fish is often weeks out of the water before it is offered for sale.

Government experts urge the use of frozen fish.

Many of the profiteering retailers publicly deny the statements of the government experts. They are urging people to buy "fresh caught" fish, and many are in reality selling thawed frozen goods under this guise.

It is not to be expected that any regular retailer can afford to offer fish at the prices at which it is being sold in Boston American fish stores. These stores are selling fish at cost without trying to make any profit. The retailer is entitled to make a profit. It is his livelihood.

The American contends that he should be content with a fair profit. There is no conceivable reason why this profit should exceed ten cents a pound.

Nor is there any reason why the retailer should try to continue to trade on the ignorance and helplessness of the public in regard to fish by publishing denials of government experts, who have given the subject years of study.

The Boston American Stores are perfecting plans to put fresh fish on sale very soon. But when they do so the fish will be sold at cost. And it will be fresh fish. It will all be sold at cost, not simply one or two varieties which are advertised to get the public into the store that other goods may be sold them.

The Boston American wishes to be fair to the fair retailer. But it intends to see the end of the food profiteer as far as fish is concerned. Through its chain of stores, ever growing in number and widening their field of action, it is going to offer food at cost to the public.

It intends to provide fish at cost to everyone in New England.

The stores will not be closed unless the public shows by its failure to patronize them constantly that the public no longer desires to get food at cost. This is entirely up to the public.

It is physically impossible to keep every store supplied at all times with all varieties of fish, although special trucks are constantly on the go supplying the various stores.

The public should remember that all varieties of fish offered are excellent when properly cooked. The Boston American fish stores offer an excellent opportunity for the housewife to get acquainted with any varieties of fish with which she is unacquainted.

Thus women customers often ask for codfish or haddock to make a fish chowder. The best fish for making chowder is whiting. If temporarily—and it is never for more than a few hours—your Boston American store is out of the variety you desire, try some other kind. There is not one variety offered for sale which the profiteering retailer would sell you for the same price.

An announcement of especial interest to the public of small towns will probably be made within a few days.

The Fair Hills of Ireland

To Those Beautiful Hills, Green Fields and Pleasant Streams, Many Hearts Turn Today.

(Copyright, 1919, by American-Journal-Examiner.)

"Take a blessing from my heart to the land of my birth,
And the fair hills of Eire, O!
And to all that yet survive of Eber's tribe on earth.
On the fair hills of Eire, O!
In that land so delightful the wild thrush's lay
Seems to pour a lament forth of Eire's decay—
Alas! Alas!
Why pine I, a thousand miles away
From the fair hills of Eire, O!"

These beautiful lines, by James Clarence Mangan, will awaken sad thoughts and memories today.

Especially the old born in Ireland, destined, perhaps, never to see that land again, will think with sadness and longing of the beautiful on this day so closely associated with Ireland's history and spiritual development.

Only those who have seen the fair hills of Ireland, the beautiful waters, the simple, earnest people, the barefooted children, the little cabins, can know what the name of Ireland means to an Irish man or woman.

It is a most beautiful country. It has sheltered and developed courageous people, men of genius, women of finest mental and moral character. It has given to all of the world strong workers, good generals, plucky, unselfish individual fighting men, legislators, poets, orators, writers of power.

St. Patrick, in his "Confession," tells how he determined to devote himself to the far-off regions of the world, the "ultimum terrae." He felt that he was called to the distant of all places. He tells us:

"I thought that at that moment I heard the voices of those who dwelt beside the wood of Focluth, which is by the western sea; and thus they cried, as if with one mouth, 'We beseech thee, holy youth, to come and walk once more amongst us.'"

He went to work with the people and for them. He and other spirits—St. Columbkille among the greatest of them—led and developed the wonderful Irish character that has been an inspiration in the world for so many centuries.

How inspiring is the world's expansion, how great the development of man and his realm, physical and mental.

St. Patrick, bound for the woods of Focluth, writes of that spot as one "ubi nemo ultra erat" (where beyond there was no man).

Since those words were written the development of the world has ALL been BEYOND THAT POINT. West of the beautiful green island, west of the great ocean, which to St. Patrick and his day was the boundless, endless sea, the real world has grown IN AMERICA.

Each man's KNOWLEDGE is limited by his time, and St. Patrick was limited by his time. But his SPIRIT was without limit. And that spirit of courage and sincerity is just as strong in America today as it was in that far past when St. Patrick preached and converted near the wood of Focluth, "where beyond there was no man."

The man with Irish blood may well look back with pride, look ahead with confidence and ambition, when he thinks of the accomplishments of his wonderful race.

For Ireland is but ONE home of the great Celtic tribe.

When Greece was at her greatest, she had got from the Celts—then dwelling north of Greece—her blue eyes, her genius for poetry and art. It was not Asiatic nor African blood that made the genius of Greece. It was the Celtic and Germanic blood of Europe. It was the wonderful Aryan race, from the cold, dark northwest that produced in Greece, in Rome, in France, in Spain, and that produces now in America and throughout the world forces of human development.

There are Irish names on South American battleships, there are Irish names written at the tops of the most important pages of English history, there are Irish bones under the ground of every great battlefield in this country and in the Old World. It is a wonderful race, as young today, as full of power, as in the old days of Greece, or the comparatively modern days of St. Patrick.

A thousand times Irishmen have been beaten, BUT THEY HAVEN'T BEEN CONQUERED. A man is only conquered when HE SAYS he is conquered. England's fight against Ireland goes on, IRELAND'S FIGHT AGAINST ENGLAND GOES ON ALSO, AND IT WILL GO ON UNTIL THE FACT SHALL BE ESTABLISHED THAT THE RIGHTS AND THE GENIUS OF A SMALL HANDFUL OF MEN CAN BE EXTINGUISHED ONLY BY THEIR OWN SUBMISSION, NOT BY ANY FORCE OF NUMBERS.

The condition of Ireland is pitiful—although the Irish do not ask for pity. Under the English rule taxes have been doubled, the population has been CUT IN HALF.

The fertile fields of Ireland are used to fatten cattle that are driven to English markets, and on lands less fertile, as Stephen Gwynne reminds us, the homes of Ireland produce children, driven by tyranny and starvation away from these homes to this land of greater promise.

The taxes of Ireland are high, the population is low. The fat cattle of Ireland go to London. The thin, half-starved children of Ireland come to America.

But that need not spell victory for England or despair for Ireland as long as Irish men and women keep their courage and their devotion to the old home and the race.

The hope of Ireland lies in the Irishman's devotion to his people, to his hatred of tyranny.

In this country there is growing up a greater Ireland. The day will come, let us hope, when Irish courage at home and Irish loyalty in America will make England realize, by force if necessary, otherwise if possible, that there have been enough years of famine, that there has been enough driving of the fat cattle to London and the thin children to America.

Every Irishman's thoughts turn today to that beautiful home across the sea.

He knows it from his father and mother, even if he hasn't seen it. The devotion of her children will free Ireland at last. Some day the men of the old race will answer WITH A FREE IRELAND the appeal of O'Connell, who stood on the hill of Tara:

"To protest against the unfounded and unjust union as not binding upon conscience, void in principle, void as a matter or right and in constitutional law."

A. BRISBANE.

(NOTE—The above editorial, written and published eleven years ago, on St. Patrick's Day, may be welcome to Irish readers today. It would seem that the fight so long carried on, not ceasing for one moment, must now result in victory unless all promises and protestations about "freedom for small nations" have been empty phrases.)

ON EACH ST. PATRICK'S DAY

By WIN BROOKS.

That harp which has these four long years been stilled,
Awakes to life! Across the water floats
The music to which all the world has thrilled—
The sweet clear accents of a minstrel's notes.

What phantom minstrel this, who strums the chord?
Who is this Knight who strikes the sacred string?
"What be your name who wears St. Michael's sword,
And on your hand the sacred shamrock ring?"

"I am the spirit of fair Erin's sons;
Long has her harp in waiting silence hung,
Lost 'mid the booming threnody of guns.
Now once again her sacred notes are flung
Unto the world. These sons who knew no fear—
Hark to their answer which today sounds clear!"

From desolated wastes of Flanders Plain:
From fields of France where wooden crosses stand;
There echoes, and re-echoes still again,
The answers of St. Patrick's stalwart band.
More sweet, more clear, the echo than at birth,
They answer—Erin's sons who found their rest
'Neath countless mounds of shell torn, crimson earth,
The shamrock pressed against each bleeding breast.

"Ye heard," the spirit speaks, "Ye heard the lay
Of Ireland's sons! Remember, I shall play
Fair Erin's harp on each St. Patrick's Day!"

A lady "Historian of Aurora Grata Chapter" in a woman's Masonic organization, left definite orders about putting her in the ground. "The hearse shall be drawn by four black horses, draped in black, and I shall be buried in the white lace dress I wore when I was last installed historian of Aurora Grata Chapter." A loving cup and other property belonging to the lady are to be buried with her.

How much attention human beings pay to the details of a ceremony that they will not witness.

This lady, buried in the white lace dress, could not read or write, and another lady recovers $15,000 from her estate, having done the writing for the official "historian."

Inability to read explains, perhaps, the funeral details. The less human beings know about the realities of the life the more attention they pay to death.

The red Indian wanted to be buried with his horse. The East Indian had his young wife burned along with his own body.

The African chief took pleasure in the thought that several living wives would be buried in the ground with him.

The lady of Aurora Chapter only wanted a certain white lace dress and some other trifles buried with her. Had she been able to read astronomy, for instance, and know how little this earth and its people amount to, she would probably have left the white lace dress for some one else to wear. To the man unable to read he is the centre of the universe, and his funeral of cosmic importance.

Germany provided ships to bring American soldiers home and take food back to Germany. One of these includes a monster of fifty-two thousand tons. That ship is the Imperator, at present stuck in the mud, which seems appropriate.

England is flying an airship 665 feet long, 80 feet in diameter, able to travel eighty miles an hour, carrying twenty-nine tons. She could cross the Atlantic and return without stopping for fuel. A fleet of such ships would be impressive in war.

The heavy steel battleship will soon be as thoroughly out of date as a hansom cab, but nations go on building warships. Hansom cab builders paid little attention to the automobile when it arrived.

More important, perhaps, than the great flying machine is England's announcement that she will manufacture a good light automobile to sell for $250. She proposes to undersell Ford's new cheapest car. To do that and thus help human beings to solve the problem of distance would be a great public service. And because it would increase individual prosperity, it would increase rapidly the sale of higher priced cars.

It is officially stated that "criminal prosecutions of those that brought on the war are anomalous and unnecessary." This shows how far the individual is ahead of the nation. Individuals freed their slaves while nations still fostered slavery. Individuals arranged to punish premeditated murder on a small scale long ago, and nations, even now, have no machinery for punishing premeditated killings on a vast scale.

Another new thing from the war. Two French air fighters, done with fighting Germans, quarreled. One challenged the other to a duel in the air, with machine guns as weapons. Paris was interested, for there are dull moments after a war ends. The authorities forbade the duel, because the gentleman killed might, with his machine, fall on innocent spectators. The late suggestion is that they fight above the water. It is not easy to eliminate fighting from human nature, peace league or no peace league.

In return for use of her shipping, and that she may work to pay indemnity, Germany is to receive from the allies three hundred and seventy thousand tons of food per month—to be paid for in gold or a satisfactory equivalent.

That means seven hundred and forty million pounds, or a little more than eleven pounds per month for every man, woman and child in Germany. Not quite six ounces of food per day seems not a great deal, but Germany evidently thinks it will do.
